Chapter I.

Our Ancestors.

During the past twenty years while the history and family data were being collected, the origin of William Millar, our Virginia ancestor, his parentage and native land, at all times constituted the real search and goal.

At first it was believed he could be traced through court records since he acquired and gave deed in the early days of the Valley of Virginia; however, diligent search among the oldest records failed to yield the slightest clue to anything beyond the time of his own life.

Letters were written to Millars found in directories of various cities, and to several of the name in Scotland where this spelling is usual, as is Miller in England, Mueller in Germany, Mohler in Holland and elsewhere; but never once did they obtain any trace of or connection with our Millars or their interests.

A kinswoman sending her family data in 1916 asked, "In what generation or year was the name changed?", and added that her father who had lived and kept his memory to an advanced age, believed the name had been something like 'Muellaire' and that he understood the family to have been French.

This latter could readily be accounted for by the fact of William Millar's wife having been French—but what of the change of name.

Now began a new search that resulted in the finding of one Muelenaer, whose origin, activities and genealogy constantly followed the trend of immigration during those years, and furthermore were closely associated with the general exodus from Europe, the settlements on the Hudson at New Paltz and Kingston, on into the Provinces of New Jersey on the Raritan River, with the du Bois and Van Meter families, the former our ancestors, and the latter as elsewhere stated.

married into, or had close association with, every generation of the Millar family.

So closely did the Muellenaer name follow and intertwine itself with the Van Meter's that a real working hypothesis seemed at hand and a new impetus sent the writer, her husband and finally a professional genealogist of large experience to plow the field of our efforts and failures.

However much we have to offer of the recorded activities of Joost Adriensen Muellenaer, from his emigration from Holland on through New York into the New Jersey community, where our ancestor William Millar is first discovered and nearly two years later is married, there is yet found no authority for, or record of any change of name; hence the chiseled 1706 upon William Millar's tomb at the old Virginia plantation, is not only the date of his birth, but must answer here for his origin.

Muellenaer History.

After Henry Hudson was sent by a London company to discover a "North West Passage" as a short route to China and a grant was made to the West India Co., with Peter Minuit as Governor and Director, every effort was made to induce emigration for settlements along the Hudson river.

Governor Lovelace, himself Scotch-Irish, later on endeavored to secure from Holland not the poor, but men of means, aristocrats to go into business and settle the lands granted this company."

The first emigrants under Minuit came from the river Waal in Guelderland, Holland.

The Sommerset Hist. Quarterly, Vol. II. p. 153 says: "No uniformity of spelling obtained, as the names were written by English clerks and clergymen, as they sounded, and seldom twice alike", and among the names used for illustration is "Mulliner for Meulenaer."

Doc. Hist. of N. Y. notes they were usually recorded in church by their Christian or Baptismal names and only in legal documents used their surnames; On each passenger list of the various vessels in which Joost Adriensen came from Holland, he is just so recorded; just as Joost Jan Van Meteren came as Jan Joosten and for years was generally so found.

The writer has found no hard and fast rule in this matter.

Under chapter headed, "First Settlement of New York by the Dutch," Doc. Hist. of N. Y.; are lists of "Immigrants to New Netherland" and on page 55, Vol. III, we find

Arriving December 1659 in the "Faith" the names "Joost Adriensen, Pynaker, from Delft" and further down the list, "Femmetje Hendricksen, maiden"

This seems the first mention of him and the "maiden" he later married after another voyage to and from Holland.

The Genealogists notes are as follows:

"Joost Adriensen appears with Gerrit Van Swearingen and others in the Dutch settlements on the Delaware River, arriving in the ship "Green Eagle" 30 September, 1660; another note states that Joost Adriensen & Co. were at Turtle Falls, South River (the Delaware was so called) April 30, 1658. (Ulster Co. Records p. 29.)

Testamentary Disposition of Vermeuler, Joost Adriensen (Van Mueler) dated at Wiltwyck, 2 Sept. 1665, was of Pynaker, his wife Femmetje Hendricksen and his little daughter Maritje by said wife shall take possession of the estate gained and acquired by him from her and all such estate as he has in the old country (Vaderland) as he might inherit. Executors in Wiltwyck, Albert Jansen Van Steenburg and Roeloff Hendricksen, brothers-in-law; they to send any balances to his lawful wife and child in the old country. Signed "Joost Adryansen." Ulster Co. Probate Records, p. 29.

Note to the above, "Joost Adriensen of Pynaker, Holland, came from Laerdam, April 16, 1665 in "Spotted Cow", m. 1st., 20 March, 1663-4.

Femmetjen Hendricksen of Mapplaen, Prov. Dreuth, Holland, residing in Wiltwych, N. On Oct. 17, 1683 the will of Joost Adriensen dec'd was proven at Fort James before Thomas Dungan, Lt. General and Vice Admiral, and Jan Joosten being therein appointed as tutor and overseer, was confirmed as such." N. Y. Sur. of Wills Liber 1-2, p. 279.

In Kingston, N. Y. marriage Records p. 503, Joost Adriensen was married by Hermanus Blom on March 20, 1663 to Femmetje Hendricksen of Holland, residing at Wiltwyck (Kingston). [Jan Joosten's wife Macyken Hendricksen is supposed to have been the sister of Femmetje.]

Documentary Hist. of N. Y. Vol. IV., p. 43, gives lists of those held captive by the Indians from June to Sept. of 1663 among them are, Wife and three children of Louis du Bois; wife and two children of Jan Joosten and "Femmetje, being recently married to Joost Ariens". This fact might easily account for the wife and child of Joost Adriensen being in the "Old Country" in 1665 when her husband returned to America in the ship "Spotted Cow."

Sylvester Hist. of Ulster Co. states that Joost Adriensen joined Kingston Church from Fort Orange, April 16, 1666.

He "married 2d as widower of Femmetje Hendrix Oct. 28, 1668, Elizabeth Willemse Krom "Legally before the Hon. Justice" this was signed "Joost Adryansen."

Three children were born of this marriage, Jannetjen, baptised April 5, 1672; Willem, baptised Oct. 13, 1678; and Hendrickse on April 24, 1681, all in N. Y. The wife died at this time doubtless, as Joost again married, on 9 July, 1681, Maritje Hays and to them was born Sara, baptised June 18, 1682 in the presence of Jan Joosten, Jan Hamel and Christina Cappoens (the child's grand mother.)

Witnesses to the baptism of Willem and Hendrick, were Jan Joosten Van Meteren and Gysbert Krom, all in New York.

In case of the baptism of Sara the father's name is given as "Joost Adriensen" and later Molenaer was added. Jannetjen the oldest child of the second marriage, married in 1689 David du Bois, son of Louis the Patentee and these were witnesses to the baptism of Lysbeth daughter of Joost Jans (son of Jan Joosten Van Meteren) and Sara du Bois. Kingston Church Records.

"Joost Adriensen had on May 8, 1677 a grant from the Court at Kingston, to build a saw mill and grist mill at Turtle Falls on the South River and the petition was granted."

Joost Adriensen had on May 8, 1677 a grant from the Court at Kingston, of six acres of land over Mill Kill and on Sept. 27, 1677 a conveyance was made to him by Jan Borhaus of a house and lot in Kingston. N. Y. Land Papers, 1 pp. 113,126.

In the above case he is named Joost Adryansen.

Jan Joosten (Van Meteren) administrator of the estate of Joost Adriens, late of Boswick, L. I., deceased on April 23, 1685, agreed to arbitrate regarding some land in Hurley, N. Y., called Wassemaker Lands. This land came into possession of Jan Joosten and was by him bequeathed to his daughter Gertje Crom, in his Testamentary Disposition, Ulster Co. N. Y. Records p. 30.

When the English Government superceded the Dutch in New York there was an exodus from the Hudson settlements into the Jersey Provinces, and again are found together, Van Meters, Muellenaers, du Bois, Hall, etc.

"Part of tract 1 of the 835 acres granted to Jan Joosten by Gov. Hamilton in 1700, grantors John Van Meter of Sommerset Co., Prov. of East Jersey, yoeman and Margaret, his wife, to Hendry Millar of said Co." Deed dated 16 of Nov. 1719.

Hendry (or Hendrickse) being about 38 years old at this time. This tract is bounded by lands of John Campbell, John Drummond of "Londine," other lands of John Van Meter, and the South Branch (Raritan) and is estimated to contain 37 acres.

John Drummond was formerly a burgess and merchant of Edinburg and afterward Deputy Treasurer of Scotland.

See Liber C. p. 2, East Jersey Deeds at Trenton.

In the will of Thos. Hall of Raritan, Somerset Co., N. J. dated 30 Dec. 1728, it states that his farm adjoins that of Hendricks Molenaers. Vide Same, p. 232.

Will of Hendry Mulenaer, Molenaer. Mulliner, Millar, dated 26 January, 1712, proven March 4, 1718, yoeman, names wife Catalina and children, Yost, Arience, John, Mary, Elizabeth; mentions farm on South Branch of Raritan River. Executors, Arian Mullinaer and Isaac Bodyn. On the latter date the executors renounced and on June 9, 1719 bond was given by Isaac Van Metre as administrator of Henry's estate on which are named fellow bondsmen, his brothers John Van Metre and Henry Van Metre." N. J. Archives, Col. of Wills, Vol. XXIII, p. 332. "Catalina or Catharine, the widow of Henry Molenaur or Miller (?) afterward married Isaac Van Metre." She was the daughter of either Jacob or Isaac Bodyn. In the will of Andrew Hoffman dated at Pilesgrove, Salem Co., N. J., Sept. 29, 1725, two of the witnesses were Catharine Van Metre and her son Joost Adriensen Meulinaer; this is substantiated by a record on Nov. 1, 1731 probably after the death of his mother, and in adjudication of his estate, "Joost Adriance Mulinar", then about 24 years of age gives "quietus" or quit claim to his "father-in-law" "Isaac Van Metre." That term was generally in use then for stepfather and is so defined by International Dictionary today."

Hendrix Muelinaer's five children were born between 1707 and 1712 in which latter year he made his will and from then on till the will was probated, our professional genealogist hoped two or more other children had been born and that they might have been Joris (George) and our William! because a will of one George Millar dated and probated in 1742 at Pilesgrove, where most of the Raritan emigrants had settled, names his brother William as one of his executors and names his two boys Joost and James, for whom Jeremiah Wood was appointed guardian. Now the writer is willing to believe these two brothers Millar may have been of our Millars, but William at least, if born between 1712-18 could not have been our William, born 1706 as is of him recorded.

One James Millar was the husband of Sarah Hopewell, daughter of Catharine du Bois and her first husband, Joseph Hopewell. The names of James and Sarah's five children as given in the will of their grandmother, Catharine (du Bois) Millar in 1791 would suggest their father as being the James, son of George Millar the Blacksmith of Pilesgrove.

They are named as "sons of James Millar; viz., George Miller, William Miller and Joseph Miller; James Miller and Yost Miller." "A guardian was appointed for James and Yost Isaac Miller, March 12, 1793."

*Shenandoah Recorded D. Wills, 197.

It is with deep regret a definite origin cannot be assigned William Millar, nevertheless these notes on the name Muelinear are not offered as a substitute, but as evidence of willingness to pursue any suggestion as a hypothesis.

The constant association of Muelinear with the Van Meters has been the most potent reason for following his fortunes into the known scenes of William Millar's early life where also the Van Meter's played a part and continued to do so.

In June of 1730 Isaac and John Van Meter secured a grant of 30,000 acres of land lying between the Shenandoah and the Potomac in Virginia, which in the next year they assigned to Joist Hite.

"On behalf of himself and many inhabitants of Pilesgrove 'Isaac Van Metre, on May 22, 1739 made application to the Philadelphia Presbytery for a church organization and when granted, he, his wife, daughter and son Henry, were among the first to sign the Covenant—"William Millar" was the thirty-sixth; Henry Van Meter and William Millar married sisters; Solomon son of the former, married Elizabeth daughter of the latter; in the next generation one Isaac Van Meter and JOHN WILLIAM[3] MILLAR together migrated to the newly opened lands in Ohio and bought a section in partnership.

If it should ever be proved that we are indeed descended from JOOST ADRIENSEN VAN MUELENAER, we may like to recall a tribute paid by one much traveled in other lands:

> "Hollanders endure all things in order that they may hold fast that which is good."

HUGUENOTS.

In 1876 a book was published giving the results of many years study in Europe by a man of wealth and leisure, self-appointed to find the beginnings of his—and our—Huguenot ancestors.

He located them in that part of Northern France known as old Belgaeic Gaul; recalling to his mind, and ours, the opening of Caesars Commentaries where he divided Gaul into three parts, the Belgians, the Aquitainians, the Celts, described them as differing in language, institutions, laws and concluded "The bravest of these are the Belgians".

With a beginning such as this it might appear one could pass at once to the long lists of marriages, births and deaths, illuminating that ever interesting human pathway with the achievements within our ready appreciation, if not our recollection.

But the same sense of duty, which at the outset urged the undertaking of these records, demands a closer analysis of the causes of the settlement in this land long before it was sufficiently explored to be a lure to the merely curious or well enough settled to afford more than the meager necessities of life, and those secured only by toil, danger and privation.

Such conditions would not have tempted our French ancestors, men and women evidencing a degree of refinement and culture in their writings and civil documents, so carefully preserved in Community Strongholds where they settled nearly three centuries ago.

No, there was a deep and abiding purpose to achieve full stature of civil and religious manhood, free from persecution, which in their native land had robbed them of every opportunity in life.

Huguenot is the name given from about 1560 to the Protestants of France; the word is of doubtful origin: some believe it originated from "Huc Nos", the words with which an early Protestant document begins.

"Professor Mahn who sets forth many derivations, connects the name with Hugues, an obscure heretic as all Protestants were then styled."

Also it was formerly explained as coming from the German "Eidgenossen", the designation of the people of Geneva at the time when they were admitted to the Swiss confederation, the word signifying, with them, Oath Comrades.

"Henri Estienne gave this explanation: The protestants of Tours, used to assemble by night near the gate of King Hugo, whom people regarded as a Spirit. A Monk, therefore in a sermon, declared that the Lutherans ought to be called Huguenots as kinsmen of King Hugo, inasmuch as they would only go out at night as he did."

The name clung to the Reformers after they had separated themselves from all connection with the Lutherans, setting them apart in their faith as distinctly Anti-Catholic, and they are known today in France as French Protestants of the Reformed Church.

Whatever the source, the name has continued and with no record of its having been repudiated by them, thus seeming acceptable, not because of any particular meaning of the word, but because it designated a separation, even as was commanded of old "Come out from among them and be ye separate."

"Being devoted to a simple form of worship and having drawn vital inspiration from Calvin, Huguenots were almost from the first unpopular at Court and in France generally, though their quiet unostentatious worship might not have so soon brought persecution upon them, had not certain of the nobility leaned to their side and from then on a political aspect was developed which for a hundred years kept France in turmoil and bloodshed."

The first Protestant French Church was established at Paris in 1555 though in succeeding years of strife and Political troubles La Rochelle was the main Huguenot stronghold. while Paris was headquarters for the Catholic League.

So continuous was the intrigue and oppression that after St. Bartholemews day in 1552 when many thousands of the Reformers were slain, the enmity between Protestant and Catholic took a decidedly political turn and the Huguenots felt no further allegiance to the King who could not stop such atrocities.

"To his credit it is stated he died bewailing the part he took."

Their cause however was rather strengthened with foreign powers in reaction from that awful day; help was given by Queen Elizabeth of England and moral support by Germany to the extent the Huguenots drew up an independent Constitution, democratic in form, patterned after the Swiss, organizing themselves into "Generalities" or districts with a certain amount of power to prevent war and control over the "highest things" but could neither pass nor abrogate laws.

This continued until 1589 during which time, within themselves they were often controlled by selfish religious leaders, finally becoming followers of Henry of Navarre, a Protestant who had a continual struggle to hold himself in power against the Catholics; his struggles were courageous, but ineffective for peace, and he finally gave up his religion declaring "the crown was worth a mass."

Within the next few years the Huguenots were so discontented, so uncertain of lasting peace, that they finally extorted from Henry IV.,* on May Second, 1598, the famous Edict of Nantes, a document which was mainly a reproduction of the more favorable points of the earlier edicts and was, in its provisions, helpful alike to Protestants and Catholics; but it was from time to time so modified as to increasingly show less favor to Calvinists because Henry wished to finally destroy the Huguenot power in the Kingdom and leave it an absolute monarchy, however much he might have preferred for himself their religion.

'About one hundred and fifty places were granted by him for their safety, these were free towns like La Rochelle, Mimes, Montauban, and towns belonging to private estates or to the King, which had fallen during the wars into Huguenot hands.'

Twelve years later when Henry was assassinated, these long-suffering people were practically without a protector and in 1618—eight years more, La Rochelle, their stronghold, was taken from them after a siege of fourteen months, reducing the population by war and famine from thirty thousand to five thousand people.

Under the management of the Kingdom after Henry, by Richelieu and later Mazarin, the Protestants were fairly well treated rather because the cardinals feared a state within a state, than because they were tolerant, as they were both zealous Catholics.

When Louis XIV. himself assumed authority the Protestants suffered greatly and with the final Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, every form of injustice and atrocity was inflicted upon them.

By a special edict, marriage dates and baptismal names were torn from official records that no heirs might later take from the church or state the property they rightfully inherited and of which they were so wrongfully robbed.

Half a million subjects fled from King and Country, many but for temporary safety across the frontier into that part of Germany known as the Palatinate (or Paltz). This was a political division or state, consisting of two separate territories called Upper and Lower Palatinate situated on either side of the Rhine.

These two territories formed a hereditary monarchy, their ruler being one of the electors of the German Empire. The name is now however, borne only in Germany by a castle on the Rhine.

Encyclopedia Brittanica says, "The history of the Huguenots is a standing marvel illustrating the abiding power of strong religious convictions."

Those who fled their country with the purpose of establishing themselves in other lands are all the more remarkable when one reflects upon the love of the French for France, who less than any other European People are lured to roam or make homes in other countries.

"In industrial arts, learning and religious thought, Huguenots were of the most advanced and progressive type of civilization," thus bringing character of an order to endure, endowments to charm and influence, to the land where at last they were to find civil and religious peace, our "Land of the free and home of the brave."

The first Huguenot settlement in America was in Ulster County, New York, their *grant signed by Edmond Andros, then Governor under the Crown, and "confirmed unto Louis du Bois and partners, that is to say Christian Doyo, Abraham Hasbroecq, Andries Lefevre, Jean Broecq, Pierre Doyo, Laurens Bivier, Anthony Crespell, Abraham du Bois, Hugo Frere, Isaac du Bois and Simon Lefevre, their heirs and assigns, etc."

At first their acts and policies were planned by the heads of respective families, but later on when there grew to be twenty four proprietors at New Paltz, there were chosen twelve men to exercise the power of giving title without deed, and decide all matters for the common good.

These were called the "Duzine" or "Twelve men"—for fifty years there is no record of appeal to the Colonial Government from the acts of this little body: In 1785 the town was incorporated in the State government and by special acts the grants and partitions were confirmed.

Le Fevre in his History of New Paltz says: "This government of the Duzine has no parallel in America and that the only other European Colony in which it has existed, was a Huguenot Colony founded at about the same time in South Africa."

Peace loving and peace practicing people—the families of du Bois or Dubois in America all trace back to this Louis, the Founder, the Patentee at *New Paltz.

DU BOIS ARMS AND MOTTO

While sojourning at Manheim, Germany, he married on October 10, 1655, Cartharine Blanchan (or sometimes found Blancon). She was a daughter of Matthew Blanchan and his wife who was Magdalene Jorisse; and a sister of the wife of Anthony Chrispel, who was the first of the Patentees to come to New Paltz, arriving in June 1660 in the "Gilded Otter."

They were all natives of Artois, France. Louis du Bois was the son of Cretian (Christian) who descended from Macquaire du Bois, Count de Ronsoy, living in 1110.

The name is one of the oldest in France and in the manifold marriage connections there, the author of the "du Bois Reunion Book", declares he has "never found it written in French records, save in one instance, otherwise than with the small du and capital B, du Bois."

The origin of the name is "of the Wood" or Forest, as one who lives in or near the wood.

From France the name spread to England and Flanders —the first of the name in England was Geoffroi du Bois, a knight in the train of William the Conqueror.

"Mrs. Anna Louise Thompson of Clinton, Iowa, a lineal descendant of Louis du Bois, with M. Le Turcq of the Genealogical Institute of Paris, has developed the du Bois line of ancestors running back to the days of the Scyrii, and includes descent from Charlemagne, Alfred the Great, Hugh Capet and Henry I., Emperor of Germany.

A chart has been worked out showing the most important of these lines, the correctness of which Mrs. Thompson avers, has been verified by comparison with different sources of information. Where the line is broken, the cause is attributed to the summary action of Louis XIV.'s minister, Cardinal Mazarin and Marshall Turenne, who decreed that the names of any of the noble families of the realm who espoused and held to the faith of Protestantism should be erased from the rolls and the documentary history of France, and their property confiscated. Such was the law then in respect to all "heretics." See Van Meter-Duke-Shepherd Genealogy.

"The first line in the chart begins with Guelph, Prince of the Scyrii [A. D. 476]. A descendant of his in the fourteenth generation, Azo, Marquis of Liguria [A. D. 1030] married Marie, a descendant of the powerful house of Este in Italy and Lombardy about 500 B. C.

Guelph, grandson of Azo and Marie and Count of Bavaria and Saxe [A. D. 1107] married Judith, a descendant of Charlemagne.

A great grandson of Guelph and Judith, Henry V., Duc de Bavaria and Saxe [A. D. 1195], married Matilda, a descendant of William the Conqueror, through Henry I. and Henry II. of England.

Henry VI. the son of the above Duc de Bavaria and Saxe, married Agnes, Countess of Palatine, a descendant of Alfred the Great.

A descendant of Henry VI, and Agnes (Madamoiselle) Claude de Lannoy, was married to Charles du Boise, Seigneur des Querder, who was a descendant of Macquaire du Bois, Count de Ronsoy, A. D. 1110.

The line of descent from Charles du Bois and Claude de Lannoy was:

1st. generation: EUSTACHE, Seigneur des Querder and de Fiennes, married 1st. Gille de Revel; 2nd. Jeanne St. Ol.

2nd. generation: GRIESLAIN DES FIENNES, Count de Clarmont, who married Jeanne de Longueville.

3rd. generation: MARC DE FIENNES, Seigneur des Querder, married Madelaine d' Ognies.

4th. generation: MAXIMILLIAN DE FIENNES, Seigneur des Querder, married Cecil Germand.

5th. generation: MAXIMILLIAN DE FIENNES, Seigneur des Querder, married Louise Charlotte d' E'stamps.

6th. generation: CHARLES MAXIMILLIAN DE FIENNES, married Henrietta de Regnierde Boisleau.

7th. generation: CRETIAN MAXIMILLIAN DES FIENNES married—record erased.

8th. generation: LOUIS DU BOIS DE FIENNES, born October 1626.

Again from Sam'l Gordon Smyth's Genealogy of Van Meter—Duke—Shepherd Families, p. 28:

"The du Bois des Fiennes appear to have been a military family and to have furnished France some able soldiers.

The first Maximillian was Field Marshall and of the Armies of the King.

His son Maximillian was Lieut. General of the Armies of the King.

Cretian Maximillian, Marquis des Fiennes was Captain of cavalry in his father's regiment."

The erasure of the record of Cretian's marriage and family was to prevent his children from establishing claim to the title and estates; but the validity of Louis claim of descent is established for the purposes of genealogy by the record in Manheim, Germany where he married, stating that he was the son of Cretien du Bois of Wicres, the little village in the Province of Artois, near Lille. "The old register at Wicres has been examined and found to contain the registry of the baptisms of three sons of Cretien du Bois, but in each case the Christian name of the son is torn out in accordance with the King's orders." [Lefevre, Hist of New Paltz.]

The residents of Flanders between the rivers Scheldt and the Lys were called Walloons, hence Louis du Bois as the leader of the settlement at New Paltz, was usually called "Louis the Walloon."

He probably came, LeFevre says, in the ship St. Jan Baptist which landed Aug. 6, 1661. In that same year as shown by the old church register at Kingston, was the third son Jacob, presented for baptism.

In 1663 the Hamlet of Hurley and part of Kingston were burned by the Indians; wives and children carried away captive.

We descendants of Louis du Bois like to believe the tradition of the splendid courage of Catharine his wife, when a captive in the hills; their torches ready to light the great pile of brush wood upon which she had been tied, the Indians marched around while she began with the other women captives to sing in their native French the 137th Psalm, which so charmed the red men, the final torture was delayed and guided Capt. Kreger's band of soldiers, Louis and other men who were searching, to the camp and to their rescue.

The Colonial Governor, Edmund Andros, had served in the English army with Abraham Hasbrocq and to this acquaintance may be attributed the ready acquisition of so fine a tract of land as the Huguenots obtained in Ulster County.

This grant, preserved in the Huguenot Bank of New Paltz is signed by the Indians and Louis du Bois and his associates, covers the land purchased four months previously; witnessed by Jan Elting, Jacomyntje Slegt and others, dated May 26, 1677.

The papers are in Dutch and the consideration as follows:—

40 kettles, 10 large, 30 small; 40 axes; 40 adzes; 40 shirts; 400 fathoms of white net work; 40 fathoms black net work; 60 pairs stockings, half small sizes; 100 bars of lead; 1 keg of powder; 100 knives; 4 kegs wine; 40 oars; 40 pieces "duffel" (heavy woolen cloth); 60 blankets; 100 needles; 100 awls; 1 measure of tobacco; 2 horses, 1 stallion—1 mare." [Le Fevre's History of New Paltz pp. 11-13.]

In 1696 Louis du Bois died in Kingston [formerly Wiltwyck, signifying "Indian Gift"] having moved from Hurley ten years before.

"Tradition says that the burning by the Indians in June of 1663 of Hurley and part of Kingston led to the discovery of the lowlands along the Wallkill and the settlement at New Paltz in 1678."

Louis was an elder in the "Walloon Protestant Church" whose first records were in French in his handwriting on the 22 of January 1683, and tells of the arrival of their first Pastor Pierre Daillie; Hugo Freer, another patentee was elected deacon."

"Louis children were Abraham and Isaac born at Manheim; Jacob, Sarah, Solomon, born at Hurley (Rebecca and Rachel died young) Louis and Matthew born at New Paltz.

At New Paltz, N. Y.
An iron plate bedded in the Stone has the date.

Solomon was the first New Paltz man to marry outside the Huguenot fold; his wife being Tryntje Gerritson of Holland Dutch ancestry whom he married about 1690.

Solomon's oldest son, Isaac, born September 21, 1691, married April 6, 1714 his cousin Rachel du Bois, daughter of Abraham du Bois and his wife Margaret Deyo, daughter of one of the patentees.

Isaac moved to Pennsylvania and settled upon his father's land at Perkiomen, Pa., where he died February 10, 1829.

Of this marriage there were daughters only; they inherited this Perkiomen property by the will of their grandfather *Solomon who died at New Paltz, N. Y., February 2, 1859. 1759

Margaret, born in 1716, married John Zieber.
Rebecca, born in 1722, married Henry Van Meter.
Elizabeth, born in 1724, married Abraham Sahler.

While Catharine, the oldest, born February 13, 1715 married William Millar and these last became our Virginia ancestors, the founders at old Front Royal, of this Millar-du Bois Genealogy.

Their marriage took place on July 29, 1743 in the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia; Catharine was the widow of Joseph Hopewell whom she had married in the same church on June 25, 1737 and by whom she had two children, Joseph and Sarah.

As his will indicates, William Millar was a man of considerable means, and in the inventory of his estate recorded at Woodstock, Va., his library is mentioned as containing "Sundry works upon History, Philosophy and Religion" which evidenced education and study. His signature also is that of one used to the pen, though made in 1772, but four years prior to his death.

He was one of the five justices of the first court held in Hampshire Co., W. Va., in 1757.

*Solomon du Bois, Lieutenant in Ulster Co. N. Y. Militia. Doc. Hist. of N. Y. Vol. III. p. 972.

In an alphabetical Poll for Frederick Co. Va., July 24, 1758 for Col. George Washington for the House of Burgesses, his name appears together with several others mentioned elsewhere in this History: William Raynolds, Isaac Hite, Jacob Hite, *Edward Lucas, Robert Allan, John and Abram Van Meter.

In the third edition to "Kercheval's History of the Valley", reprinted in 1902; p. 51, we find,

"William Miller and Abraham †Hite were also among the early settlers. When the Indian wars broke out, Miller sold out his right to 500 acres of land, and all his stock of horses and cattle in the woods, for 25 pounds, and removed to the south fork of the Shenandoah, a few miles above Front Royal. The 500 acres of land sold by Miller lie within two miles of Moorefield . . . . . "

Five children were born to WILLIAM[1] and CATHARINE [DU BOIS] MILLAR upon the old Millar plantation in the home they called Mountain View but which gradually became known as "Stone House," being the only one of that description in this section.

1. WILLIAM[2] MILLAR; born November 2, 1744; died October 22, 1790.
2. ABIGAIL[2] MILLAR. born February 24, 1747; died September 1, 1823.
3. ISAAC[2] MILLAR. born February 9, 1751; died January 23, 1815.
4. REBECCA[2] MILLAR. born February 19, 1753; died August 25, 1834.
5. ELIZABETH[2] MILLAR, born November 19, 1755; died January 24, 1808.

WILL OF WILLIAM MILLAR I.

In the name of God Amen. I William Millar of Dunmore County, in Virginia, being weak in body but of perfect mind and memory, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my Last Will and Testament, and first I give and recommend my soul to God who gave it, and my body to be buried in a Christian-like manner, at the discretion of my Executors nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God; and as for such worldly goods as God has blest me with in this life I give and bequeath them in manner following, and first—

It is my will and desire that all my last debts and funeral charges be paid and satisfied.

* Edward Lucas who settled in Jefferson Co., W. Va. in 1732, a great, great, great grand father of the writer on her mother's maternal line.

†As before stated Hite obtained his Virginia grants from the Van Meters between 1730 and 1732.

I give to my beloved wife Catharine Millar one of my best beds and furniture, and one of my best breeding mares, and two of my best cows and calf and one third part of all my moveable estate.

Item, I give and bequeath to my beloved son William Millar part of the plantation I now live on joining Henry Cloud beginning at a white oak on the river bank, corner of Cloud's land and mine, thence up said river to an ash tree near about 160 poles, which said ash is marked for a corner, thence running from the river back the several corners to Cloud's lane as may appear by a clod thereof made; thence with Cloud's line to the beginning on the river bank containing 210 acres more or less.

Item.—I give and bequeath to my beloved son Isaac Millar all that plantation or tract of land on the south branch in Hampshire County as deeded to me by his lordship joining Abrm, Koykendall, containing 438 acres with all the rights belonging to the same.

Item. I give and bequeath to my beloved daughter Rebecca Millar all that tract of land I bought of John Dunbar lying in Hampshire on the Lost river, joining Jacob Gresoman, containing 412 acres and also one good bed and furniture and 3 cows and calf.

Item. I give and bequeath to my beloved daughter Elizabeth Millar the remainder part of lands joining the above bequeathed land to my son William beginning at an ash tree on the river bank a marked corner for my son William and my said daughter Elizabeth, thence up the river about 104 poles to a large Sycamore tree, corner to the land I deeded to my son-in-law Thomas Allen, thence with Allen's lines the several corners back to a corner marked for Wm. Ashby and Peter Lehew, thence with Lehew's line to Henry's corner, near the Gret road, then with said Cloud's line west to a black oak marked corner for my son William, thence with his line the several corners to the beginning ash tree, on the South river bank, containing 125 acres more or less, and also I give four cows and calfs and one good bed and furniture.

Item. The above lands I give to them and to each of their heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I give to my beloved step-son Joseph Hopewell, ten pounds Virginia money, and discharge him of what he is now charged in my book.

Item. I give to my beloved step-daughter Sarah Millar, wife of James Millar twenty pounds for her, or on and at her desire within one year after my decease, and her husband James shall have no right to any part thereof, unless by his wife's express order or desire, and if she should die before this will can be executed, my Executors may dispose of the sum for the benefit of the children at their discretion.

Item. I give to my son William at my decease all that he shall be in my debt at my decease, if it not exceeds fifty pounds, but if more he shall pay to my Executors in the rest of my movable estate to be equally divided between my son Isaac Millar, and my three daughters to-wit Abagail the wife of Thomas Allen and Rebecca and Elizabeth Millar, and each of my children is to have their stock as is now their own and legacy.

Item. I constitute and appoint my beloved son Isaac Millar and my beloved son-in-law Thomas Allen Executors of this my last will and testament, revoking all and every other former Wills and Testaments or Legacies by me made. Ratifying and confirming to be my last unless revoked by me.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this first day of October, and in the year of our Lord A. D. one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six ————1776.

FERREE ARMS

Chapter II.

William Millar II.

1. William[2] the oldest son of William[1] and Catharine Millar, was born and lies buried upon the land chosen for his birthright.

We know little of the man himself, his life was but forty-six years, and the interior of his home, Stone House, was damaged by fire in later years, doubtless erasing many evidences of character and personal attributes of its early owners.

We have the right however, to infer two points of worthiness in his life; first, he was, by his father's will, entrusted with maintaining the family name and homestead; second, because of his record of service as Ensign in the Seventh Company, 4th Batt, of Pennsylvania Militia.

William[2] Millar married Elizabeth Ferree, daughter of †Abraham and his wife Elizabeth Elting Ferree; and since the early history of our country holds much information concerning these two names, some part of it is here repeated as vitally interesting to the descendants of William and Elizabeth Millar.

The Ferree Family was of the *Nobility of France, its founder Robert Ferree was in 1265 confirmed to an extensive estate at Forchamps in Lower Normandy. See Nobility of Normandy, Vol. II., p. 357."

Because of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, and in order to carry out the full intent to exterminate Protestantism, Dragonades, fierce musket bearing soldiers were sent to the home town of the Ferrees and quartered upon all protestant inhabitants.

So great were the hardships and indignities in consequence that where possible, the people fled, notably among others the Ferrees, who escaped in the night, going first to Strasburg, then to Lindau in Bavaria, an Imperial City which gave them temporary safety.

Here the husband and father Daniel Ferree died, he was a silk merchant of means and prominence.

The widow to further safeguard their existence assumed her maiden name of Marie Warrembur.

They were presently joined by Isaac le Lefevre, a notable Huguenot refugee who married Catharine, oldest daughter of Madam Ferree; because of the very crowded condition of these places of refuge, they decided together, to emigrate to the New World, there to secure civil and religious peace.

Historian Wayland says in tribute to the Ferree family and other immigrants of the early eighteenth century:—

"They came from Europe not for economic reasons alone but because of religious persecution, political oppression and military outrages; such forces always move the best classes, people who seek liberty of conscience, health of the State and safety for the morals of home and family."

In his memoirs published in 1904, Admiral Schley, whose grandmother was sister to Elizabeth Ferree [wife of WILLIAM[2] MILLAR] says concerning his ancestry:

> "The first instinct of individual independence the world over has usually taken form in a defense of primitive faith, of right to pray in our own hearts in our own way.
> It was this instinct that established the beginnings of this great Republic and made out of an unknown wilderness a great Nation."

No matter was neglected by Madame Ferree to secure the transfer of their status as worthy citizens of their native land, to the land of their future abode.

Her passport was dated from Bittenheim, March 10, 1708.

Her testimonial from her French Reformed Church was dated May 10, 1708.

Also from civil authorities, a statement of her freedom from debt.

With these documents in hand the little party went to London where in person Madame Ferree sought out William Penn whose "*Holy Experiment" made Pennsylvania unique as a refuge for immigrants "for conscience sake."
To him she made known their situation and the next day he introduced her to Queen Ann, then England's sovereign whose kindness of heart had already been shown French and German refugees.

The queen presented Madame Ferree with many and various implements of husbandry.

William Penn covenanted to give this brave woman a tract of land which she actually obtained upon her final settlement in Pennsylvania.

The Ferree party reached New York safely, proceeded up the Hudson river to their Huguenot friends at Esopus, remaining about two years, until in 1712 circumstances were favorable for taking up their grant of 2,000 acres in Chester, now Lancaster Co., Pa., the warrant for which is dated October 10, 1710.

Upon their arrival at indeed their Promised Land, Stapleton in his "Memorials of the Huguenots," says: "An Indian chief met them and gave to the Madame not only his wigwam for her present comfort but his word to keep peace between them, that word was never broken by either. She vested in the care of trustees a plot of ground which should be for them a burial place, now known as 'Carpenter's Graveyard' near Paradise, Pa. Here lies the brave woman honored in memory by descendants in every state, many among the great of the land."

While they sojourned in Esopus, N. Y. the third son of Madame Ferree, Phillip, married Leah, the daughter of

* "In 1681 William Penn obtained in lieu of the 16,000 pounds for which the Crown was indebted to his Father Sir William Penn, a grant of the territory from which the present boundaries of Pennsylvania were determined. His great desire was to establish a home for his co-religionists—the Quakers." See New International Encyclopaedia.

Abraham du Bois and his wife Margaret Deyo, both children of Huguenot Patentees.

They settled upon part of the tract given his mother in Lancaster Co., Pa., and here their eight children were born.

Abraham Ferree, their oldest son married in 1736 Elizabeth Elting, daughter of Cornelius Elting and his wife Rebecca Van Meteren, who was a daughter of Joost Jan Van Meteren, the Holland Pioneer, and his wife Sarah du Bois, daughter of Louis the Founder and Patentee.

The will of Abraham Ferree probated in Strasburg twp., Lancaster Co., March 14, 1775, mentions six children.

1. Cornelius—who settled in Virginia.
2. Rebecca, married David Schreiver and became the grand mother of Admiral Schley.
3. Israel.
4. Rachael, married David MisKimius.
5. Elizabeth, married William Millar.
6. Mary, married George Graaff who died, after which she married Griffin Willets of Kentucky near Bardstown.

The original purpose in the mind of the writer of this history and genealogy was to perpetuate, solely for her two sons, a record of their maternal ancestors; if worthy, to be emulated, where unworthy, to be corrected in their own lives. But since studying the history of our country whose policies were established and nurtured by a great faith, high character has been both cause and result and the interest and application has broadened. Our ancestors were here not for love of adventure nor to raise their social status, but through peril and privation courageous, here for conscience sake.

Since so largely has this branch of the family drawn upon pioneer conditions and so many times are we descended from Huguenot sources, is it not therefore especially laid upon us to remember why we are Protestants; and in the midst of safety, ease and plenty, when issues arise to test the fibre within us, let our words and actions be consistent with our inheritance, loyal to the motto of du Bois Arms, "Hold to thy Faith."

Six children were born to WILLIAM and ELIZABETH FERREE MILLAR, as copied from an old Bible printed in 1779 in possession of one of the families, doubtless copied from the original entries.

1. ELIZABETH MILLAR, born Tuesday Sept, 19, 1771; 11 o'clock, 11 minutes.
2. REBEKAH MILLAR, born Thursday, November 4, 1773; 7 o'clock in the morning.
3. ABRAHAM MILLAR, born Sunday, June, 2nd, 1776, at sunrise.
4. ISAAC MILLAR, born Saturday, Nov. 21, 1778.
5. JOHN WILLIAM MILLAR, born October 31, 1781.
6. CORNELIUS E. MILLAR, born January 4, 1785.

WILLIAM[2] MILLAR II.

In the Name of God Amen. I, WILLIAM MILLAR of Shenandoah County in Virginia, being weak in body but of perfect mind and memory, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament.

And first I give and recommend my soul to God who gave it and my body to be buried in a Christian like manner, at the discretion of my executors. Nothing doubting, but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God.

And as for such worldly goods as God has blessed me with in this life, I give and bequeath them in manner following.

And first it is my will and desire that all my just debts and funeral charges be paid and satisfied. Item, I give to my beloved wife Elizabeth Millar all that tract of land I hold in Maryland, it being part of the land known by the name of *Elton's Right; one negro woman named Nan, one good riding creature, one of our good cows, two good beds and furniture, my desk and best looking glass, and her choice of tables.

Item: I give and bequeath to my beloved sons Abraham Millar and Isaac Millar, all that tract of land I now live on, joining William Cloud on the one side and Solomon Van Meter on the other, and my two negro boys Tom and Stephen and two good creatures to be equally divided between them.

Item: I give and bequeath to my beloved sons John William Millar and Cornelius Millar all the land I now hold in Kentucky and four of my negroes, viz. Harry, Leily, Jonathan and David and also two lots in town of Front Royal and in case the aforesaid land in Kentucky should not be obtained, it is my will and desire that my two sons Abraham and Isaac should pay to my two sons

Item: All the above legacys I give to them their heirs and assigns forever except the land I give to my wife Elizabeth; it is my will after her decease that it be equally divided between my two daughters Elizabeth and Rebecca, the upper part to Elizabeth and the lower part to Rebecca. Also I give to my daughter Elizabeth my negro girl called Rachel, together a mare and colt, six head of cattle and twelve sheep that she has now in her possession; also two beds and their furniture all which I give to her and the heirs of her body.

Item: I give to my daughter Rebecca my negro boy named Jacob, one mare and colt, six head of cattle and twelve head of sheep, two good beds and furniture all which I give to her and to the heirs of her body.

Item: It is my will and desire that if any of the above named legatees should die without heirs of their bodies, their legacy should be equally divided among my four sons, viz. Abraham, Isaac, John William and Cornelius or the survivors of the said four sons.

Item: I give my two sons John William and Cornelius the remainder of my estate to be equally divided between them.

Item: I constitute and appoint my worthy friends Jonathan Clark and Jacob Van Meter, Jr., Executors of this my last will and Testament revoking all and every other former will and Testament or Legacies by me made, ratifying and confirming this to be my last, unless revoked by me. Another evidence of the stability of purpose of WILLIAM[2] MILLAR was his plan to certainly secure to the homestead a lineal male descendant by devising it to his two older sons who were then but lads in their teens.

Subsequent events of the country's development showed how wise was this provision and how difficult it proved to keep the westward bound spirit of discovery and adventure from transplanting whole families across the mountains into the "Western Wilderness" as Kentucky and Ohio lands were called when first opened for settlement some twelve years later.

Only love of home and kindred, with a determination to use every opportunity of communication has kept intact, family traditions, history and genealogy through the years when messengers were few and liable to all sorts of delay and disaster by floods, impassable roads and hostile frontier conditions.

No doubt the payment of letter postage by the recipient instead of the sender, secured the safe arrival of mail which otherwise might have been lost in transit; also the high rate of postage naturally tended to the writing of important facts with much care and precision even while it doubtless limited the number of letters sent.

Many old letters in the writer's possession are marked due 22—27—36 and even 75 cents.

No letters of WILLIAM[2] MILLAR are believed to exist but several business papers bearing his signature show ready and legible penmanship, almost equal to his father's "William Millar Sen'r" which was one of the writer's happy "finds" on a tiny scrap of paper and dated December 12, 1772.

Several letters written by his wife Elizabeth [Ferree] Millar are also prized and serve to inform us of her eagerness to visit the new country after two of her sons had settled there and also that after her youngest son Cornelius, finally decided to remain near his brothers in Ohio, she could no longer be denied, and with negro maid and man returned with her son after a visit he made to her in the Virginia home then owned by Isaac, one of the two older sons to whom it was bequeathed.

This was in 1807 and so did she live until because of failing health it was thought best to remove her to the home of Abraham, who with his wife smoothed every care during the remaining year of her life.

"Elizabeth Ferree, wife of William Millar" lies buried in the private cemetery on the Millar Plantation "Shady Mount" Scioto Co., Ohio, near Wakefield, having died December 21, 1818.

1. ELIZABETH[3] MILLAR [William[2], William[1]], the first child of William and Elizabeth (Ferree) Millar was born in Stone House on the Millar plantation near Front Royal, Virginia, on "Tuesday, September 19, 1771, 11 o'clock, 11 minutes" by Bible record.

She was married before her father died; in their Virginia home August 9, 1787 to William Raynolds of Richmond Co., Va. [born June 23, 1764; died October 14, 1814 in Canton, Ohio.]

"The grandfather of William was Geoffrey *Raynolds, born about 1656 in England and was of royal blood and during the scourge there of cholera, "The black death", he was sent with a tutor to Virginia; when the conditions at home permitted his return he desired to make the new world his home and the "a" in the name was adopted to designate him and his descendants from all other Reynolds." No one of the clan has been found who fails to use the changed spelling though not all are informed of the origin.

The will of Geoffrey Raynolds, executed March 3, 1721; Probated June 11, 1725 in Richmond Co. Va.

WILLIAM RAYNOLDS left Richmond Co., Va. where he was born, and settled in Front Royal at the time of his marriage to ELIZABETH[3] MILLAR whose father established them there and in his will, probated three years later, further devised to them.

But with the first government land sales in Kentucky and Ohio in 1802, the tide of sentiment was strong for western settlement. Hence, immediately upon the marriage and departure for Ohio of his wife's brother JOHN WILLIAM[3] MILLAR, late in 1803, many letters passed between them showing themselves precursors to Mr. Raynolds removal to that state at the end of another year with his family, settling at Zanesville.

*The Raynolds Arms are—Eagle's Wing and a Pegasus or winged horse with a crest and stripes. Motto "Non sufficit Orbis"

"He volunteered under Gen. Cass and was captain of a Company of Volunteer Infantry which he raised and was at the surrender of Hull at Detroit, where he contracted a disease from which he died October 14, 1814 with the rank of Major. His wife Elizabeth whom he always called "Captain" survived him many years, dying on May 20, 1843."

A grandson remembered her to have been blind for a year before her death, but that she bore it uncomplainingly.

Following are two letters to his brother-in-law John Wm.[3] Millar—

Front Royal, Frederick Co. Va.

Dear Johnny

It is unaccountable to me why I have not received an answer to neither of the letters sent to you via Chillicothe (postpaid) they were directed to be forwarded by the Post Master at the first safe opportunity, that they were forwarded I have no doubt and have been expecting for several weeks past an answer.

I now improve an opportunity by Mr. Isaac Millar of Kentucky to forward this via Portsmouth or Alexandria, he has promised to stop on his way down Ohio at the mouth of Scioto from whence am in hopes you will soon get it, as I am told by your Brother 'tis your County Town and the nearest to you; be pleased to spare no pains in procuring an opportunity to write me. I am as yet lying on my oars and wish before I have an occasion to use the helm to know the course I am to stear and the place of destination; much has been said of Louisiana, give me the reports currant of that country in your neighborhood together with your own opinion, many things in my first letter required answers which am in hopes you will attend to: Elections for members to our State Legislature will take place in April next and the event begins to be the topic of conversation in almost every circle, and several publications in papers have been made, evidently intended to introduce corresponding committees thro the County for the purpose of election, how it will terminate I know not, but am one of the supporters of the plan.

Make my best respects to your companion together with the Captain's to you both—we are all well. I received a letter from Billy a day or two ago, he was well.

Mrs. Headley has been unwell but is recovering very fast, and nothing of moment respecting others of your friends and acquaintances worth relating.

I expect to see you as early in the Spring as the roads will admitt but must certainly receive a letter from you before I start.

Accept dear Jack the assurance of my best respects——

19th, Feb'ry, 1804.

The following letter selected from those in writer's possession gives the best idea of the early establishment of the Raynolds family in Ohio and also the friendships existing between the various branches of the Millar family.

Zanesville, 6th December, 1804.

Dear Jack,

By the last mail from the westward I received an answer to a letter written to your brother Abram and by the next weeks mail shall expect an answer to this. 'Tis written with a wish to commence a correspondence at once friendly and improving.

'Tis written to let you know that after a journey of five weeks we arrived at this place one week of which might be considered as having elapsed by unforeseen accidents such as breaking my waggon, turned it over etc., but am at last settled as I suppose for the winter, having rented a house 6/9 V. C. money and in my present situation should be tolerably satisfied with my expenses something less and could flatter myself with the prospect of seeing you and Polly here in the course of the Winter, you have a very small family and horses to spare come and see us, you can ride here in three days and the satisfaction it would give us is indescribable.

After making some other arrangements which will take three or four weeks, we intend if possible to see the banks of Scioto. Three horses will take the Capt'n myself and the three smallest children there will be none left but George and Jorice who can stay with some of my neighbors during our absence, this plan to be executed after you come to see us and perhaps before for from what Abraham writes can scarcely anticipate the pleasure of seeing you in several months on Muskingum, he writes that in six weeks (the time he has had his family on Scioto) you and Polly have been there but once to see him and then stayed but about fifteen minutes. Now sir, from those considerations, am at a loss how to make my calculations when to expect you but to jump accounts shall expect you on or before the 25th instant, together with your good wife and Eliza—

If I could but flatter myself
John Millar and his wife and child
Abram Millar and his wife
And William Raynolds and his family would dine together in Zanesville on Christmas day I could, cripple as I am (having strained my back lifting heavy rails) jump for joy; and why not if it were possible anything could be more entertaining than to sit, smoke and talk over and over again the ten thousand transactions which have transpired within the knowledge of one or all of us, nothing could be more entertaining, nothing would be more agreeable! make the experiment, we will follow the example, I promise you we will.

But if affection, friendship, brotherly and sisterly love can not fetch you, perhaps I can lay a scheme that will,———(I am now going to write like the people of this State) I have a very fine broodmare one that your mother offered me $200 for, come up with Bute (if you have him) and I will give you a good trade. She is thought here to be the finest mare in the State, she is 6 years old and upwards of 16 hands high almost full blood, and has proved herself to be a fine breeder,——will this fetch you!——what persuasive language shall I make use of; the subject is nearly exhausted and your patience also; well be it so but still I must insist on your coming———I cannot but think that as there are but three of us in this State, that altho it may not be perfectly convenient to settle near each other, yet we shall not be so far apart but that we can hear from each other weekly and can see each other quarter yearly. I will promise to make arrangements something similar to those, am not certain of continuing in this place, shall go on to the westward myself and if no place strikes my fancy better than this, this will be the place where I shall ultimately settle.

These are my present views but I may buy and fix myself firmly in a day or two for aught I know for am much pleased with what I call promising future prospects: Climate, soil, navigation, Mill-seats, all combine to enforce sanguine expectations that Zanesville will in a few years rival the most commercial Town in the State, 'tis not the center of Territory but it will be the center of trade. A portage of but one mile to the Cayhoga River which falls, rather glides into Erie Lake, at Zanesville there is the only natural obstruction in Muskingum for 150 miles, at this place comes in the Licking River draining between 30 and 50 miles square of the finest land in the state, but enough, you shall hear from me again. Adieu, dear Jack,

WM. RAYNOLDS.

Children of ELIZABETH[3] and WILLIAM RAYNOLDS:

1. WILLIAM[4] RAYNOLDS [Elizabeth[3], Willam[2], Willam[1] Millar], born in Frederick Co. Va., November 22, 1789; moved with his parents to Ohio in 1808 and on to Stark Co. where he served his brother-in-law John Harris as deputy clerk and recorder; and when of age in 1810 he was appointed to fill that office.

In 1811 he married Elizabeth Seabury Fisk, the daughter of John Fisk, a retired sea captain from Baltimore, who had come to Stark Co., Ohio in 1810 to invest in lands, settling in Canton, Ohio.

Mr. Raynolds built large flour and woolen mills two miles south of Canton. He died September 20, 1829.

Six children were born to them—

1. GEORGE[5] RAYNOLDS. born April 3, 1813.

6. CORA CAROLINE[5] RAYNOLDS.

Of several letters written by William[4] Raynolds to his uncle JOHN WM.[3] MILLAR, toward whom he seemed to have always looked for sympathy and advice in his studies, one is selected which tells perhaps more than others of his family affairs.

Canton, May 14, 1815.

Dear and Honored Sir:

In looking over a file of old letters this evening I found one written 1st Dec. 1803 and dated Scioto County, Ohio—in that letter I found some precepts of the first order and enjoined by you on my mind when a youth of 13 years—but what most forcibly struck me was a declaration on your part of an interest in my wellfare and happiness which you declared as your opinion would last while we live, and yet only to think I have lived in Canton 7 years, very bustling years, but not so busy or bustling as to make me forget the friend of my youth—the man in particular who early in my life spared no pains to instill correct ideas into my mind and to whom I owe no small portion of the many advantages I now enjoy, Oh no, for the first year after my arrival in Canton I suffered not a month to pass over without writing either to you or Uncle Abram, but I heard nothing from any of you; altho' this chagrined and mortified me I yet have continued to write never less than once, sometimes several times a year to some of my Scioto friends, and yet strange to say in seven long years I have not seen a letter from any of you except some old ones I shall ever preserve—

The last time Brother Geo. was with you, you told him you had not rec'd a line from me since my residence here and that you were blaming me, 'tis not my fault, and I fondly flatter myself 'tis not yours—the old letter from you has again induced me to try and make you hear me, and if possible to elicit a reply—but so faint are my hopes of being able to make this reach you that I write without spirits. I cannot however, forget to tell you that my family is increasing, a fine hearty boy lays yonder on the bed sleeping, upward of 2 years old and a promising little girl altho' but little more than 2 weeks old is lying on its mother's lap, who sits beside me. Sister Rebekah is with us in good health, so were all mother's family at Zanesville the 4th instant.

Should this ever reach you I still hope you will remember enough of me to induce you to let me again into your good opinion, if I have forfeited it, but how, when, or for what, I know not.

To my much respected friends in your vicinity generally but to my honored Grand Mother especially, I intreat you to present my love and duty, and accept for yourself and Aunt Polly assurance that while the hand of death spares me I shall feel toward you the same sentiments that animated me in years gone by.

Wm. Raynolds.

I shall put the envelope over this myself and direct it so as to get it to Portsmouth if possible—should it reach you forget not to direct to "Canton Stark Co., Ohio" as there is another village in the state called Canton. How astonishing is the news from Europe does it not remind you of some of the stories of ancient days. My Betsy and Sister Rebekah desire their love to you all.

Adieu again, Wm.

In 1826 he wrote his uncle a letter of condolence upon the death of "Aunt Polly" whom he said more than any one he knew fulfilled the Divine Command to be a "helpmate to man."

In the same letter he mentioned the two new babies, his own and his sister's (Rebekah Harris) and said "Rebekah calls hers Raynolds, we call ours Harris and they are both fine little fellows."

*In a letter written to John William[3] Millar, his brother-in-law, William Raynolds announced the birth of a son whom, he said, we will call for the new President—James Madison.

Served during the Civil War first in Co. F. 4th Ohio Volunteer Infantry for a year, invalided to a hospital and on recovery became a nurse there, afterward a clerk in the War Department.

For years he was President of First National Bank of Las Vegas, N. M.; he contracted pneumonia and from its effects suffered many months, and after an operation to relieve him, he died September 19, 1921.

He married May 16, 1872 Martha E. Cowan, daughter of David and Martha (Chastain) Cowan, (born in Fairfield, Iowa, March 17, 1849: died in Las Vegas, Nov. 1919). Three children were born to them.

I. James Wallace[6] Raynolds [Jefferson[5], James M.[4], Elizabeth[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born in Pueblo, Colo., March 23, 1873; graduated from Highland Military Academy of Worcester, Mass., in 1889 some years later from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He was appointed by President McKinley, Secretary of the Territory and held the office until Gov. Curry was appointed, when he resigned to give his attention to his large sheep ranch near Santa Rosa, but he always acted as Secretary of the Territorial Republican Central Committee.

A year before his death Gov. Curry appointed him superintendent of the Territorial Penitentiary. He was en route to a lower altitude when he died March 10, 1910.

An article in the "Inter-Ocean" upon New Mexico Statehood says, "As Secretary of the Territory Mr. Raynolds had a clean record for honesty and efficiency and as one of the young leaders of the Republican party, was recognized as cool, capable and resourceful.

He married in Omaha, Nebraska, December 30, 1896 Brownie L. Baum (born at Chariton, Iowa) daughter of Daniel and Lethenia (Leffler) Baum.

2. REBEKAH[3] MILLAR [William[2], William[1]]. The second child of William and Elizabeth (Ferree) Millar was born "Thursday, November 4, 1773, 7 o'clock in the morning", according to Bible record, in the old Stone House near Front Royal, Va.: and died in Ohio March 20, 1834.

She was married by the Rev. William Williamson, a kinsman by marriage, on September 15, 1796 to Charles T. Mastin (born December 15, 1771: died December 20, 1842) an early day merchant in Front Royal, in whose marvelously decorative though legible handwriting many old family accounts are preserved.

He had been educated for the Law and after removing to Ohio, practiced his profession in Lucasville where he also owned a general merchandising business.

The name Mastin or Masten is found in very early day records of New York and Maryland but connection has not in this instance been traced.

*Eleven children were born:

1. Elizabeth Ferree[4] Mastin, born May 15, 1797.
2. Turner Masbery[4] Mastin, twin to Elizabeth; died unmarried Nov. 15, 1847.

lived upon the Elton Millar place until her marriage October 24, 1849 to William Guthrie, a nephew of General Guthrie, when they lived in what is now the Jack Thomas place on the Scioto Trail and was originally the old Mastin home.

They moved from Ohio to near Jameson, Missouri which, ever since, has seemed to be home and the rallying point for the few descendants and where so many lie buried, having succumbed to consumption, which a descendant says was the family enemy.

Mrs. Guthrie died March 21, 1874, she and her brother Matthew being all left of her family and he had gone but the year before.

All the children of Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie were born near Jameson.

I. Louisa Ellen[6] Guthrie, born August 9, 1850: died May 13, 1868.

Abraham[3] Millar

Copy of a letter written Abraham Millar in Virginia shortly after he became of age, by his Mother's sister Rebecca (Ferree) Schreiver; his mother at the time quite ill.

"Dear Abraham

I can't help but must write a few lines to you—you are the eldest of your brothers—and your sisters can't always be with your mother, for that reason I beg you to be kind to her and your Brothers and about everything in the house & place & until it shall please God that she gets better and comes to assist you—I leave you all to the Blessing of God shall attend you, from your aunt that wishes you all well.

December 20th day, 1797. R. Schreiver.*

P. S. I wish you to write to me and send it to John Schley† in Fredericktown

*Admiral Schley's grandmother; †His father. No doubt Abraham felt less his responsibility than did his good aunt; but it was in his home years later, his mother passed away in comfort.

and then I shall be shore to get it. Dear Abraham don't neglect it but be sure to write how your mother and all the rest of you all are in health."

ABRAHAM[3] MILLAR [William[2], William[1]], born June 2nd 1776 in "Stone House" on the Millar Plantation in Warren County, Virginia. Married in Hampshire Co., W. Va. his cousin Rebekah[3] Millar [Isaac[2], William[1]) August 14, 1804 and in the late fall of the same year they moved to Scioto Co. Ohio where Abraham had already entered land and upon which he built, first a log, later a substantial brick home on the Portsmouth road.

Here they lived until 1846 when again he acquired Government land which was located in Mississippi Co., Missouri near East Prairie. Their land comprised at the time of his death nine square miles, most of it rich low land and sandy bottom, some excellent timber upon one part.

A large flag doorstep at the entrance of the old home here was dragged by an ox team from their Ohio home, greatly prized even yet because there is no stone in that county naturally.

Rebekah[3] died January 20, 1867. Abraham[3] having died suddenly while on a business trip to Ohio, February 3, 1855. Abraham[3] Millar was hospitable, jovial and generous, gave a good corner of land on the highway for school and church; kind to pioneer ministers though not himself of religious pretentions.

His Ohio home seems in his family letters to have been the dearer one; but he grew weary of the inefficient labor there which was neither slave nor free. The early settler took young negroes from the south and kept them only until they became of age then returned them south.

Slaves were yet held in Missouri, hence he had the fertile soil of the new country with labor of the kind he had been brought up to understand.

The following letter written to Abraham's brother who had in that same year settled upon his Scioto Co. land in Ohio speaks the unrest of many Virginians to secure holdings in the newly opened western country.

Decbr. 30, 1803.

Dear Jack

A leisure hour now presents itself and remembering your detached situation, not doubting but you are anxious to know the occurrences that have taken place since you left here as well as our trip home, have induced me communicate them or rather make the attempt, for I think writing by mail (the only means of carrying a letter at this time of the year) not to be a very expeditious method to communicate with you for the idea I had when there was that a letter might lay a considerable time in the office in Chilicothe before you would get it. The method I mean to take with this is to pay the postage, hoping by its being paid that *Tiffin will forward it by the first opportunity.

For two or three days after we started inx we were much troubled with the grain we had, until we fed it away, after that we carried no more and had a very good journey of it considering the disagreeableness of the weather which was very wet; we were eleven days on the road, I think the road we traveled in, much better than the Wheeling road.

I found Isaac as unsettled as when you left him, he is entirely unsettled in his mind with respect to purchasing me out, or selling all together.——I think if he were married he could easily determine, while things continue as they are, will do nothing. Am certain he has never mentioned the subject to her in his life. I fear by his trifling he will balk me in my calculations of returning as soon as I expected for until I have my business finally settled here I can not think of settling elsewhere and I assure you I see but little prospect of selling it at this time.

I cannot sell to any other person without Issac will sell also and I can find if he marries he wishes to purchase me out—you see my situation is not very agreeable, I will temper with them a while longer but cannot put up with it a grate while.

I was at Mr. Headley's yesterday and last night at a quilting. We had a very agreeable party, the family is in good health. There is a number of your neighbors that talk of seeing Scioto in the spring. Messrs. Richardson, Cloud, White and a number of others, all of which talk of settling there if they like the country.

Raynolds talks of seeing you shortly he is somewhat taken with Portsmouth tho' he is so whimsical I have hardly faith to believe he will get off.

Old Mrs. *Branson continues much as she was, or is but little better. Mrs. †Long of Woodstock died a few days ago. Daniel Masten is dead. xMajor Hite married. Browning the preacher is also married to a lady of Baltimore. Mother and family is well, Cornelius left this place this morning in good health. The ‡Old Lady is anxious for all hands to move out.

I should be glad to know how you spend your time since we left you, tho I guess not very agreeable, you have but little to do and no books to amuse you. I cannot imagine how you will spend this winter it must be a disagreeable season

*Then Postmaster in Chilicothe. Ohio. x back to Virginia.

† A kinswoman through the Millar[1], Allen[2], Russell[3] line.

*Rebekah[2] Millar, wife of Lionel Bransan and Abraham's aunt.

*Major Isaac Hite. ‡His mother Elizabeth (Ferree) Millar.

to you but more especially to Polly for your gun will be some recreation to you but she will have no stimulus to keep her mind alive since the fatigue of baking bread is over. I often think of you and as often I imagine I can see you sitting in front of the fire on a stool looking out of your window at the back of the chimney. I have often been sorry I had not staid a few weeks longer with you tho I could not have been of any service to you except for company. Let me go where I will since my return I hear but little talk of anything except deer and turkey, the generality of the people enquire much more about the game than the soil, climate, extent of production, settlement or other necessary inquiries common to new countries.

If Isaac does not go out in the spring (which he talks of sometimes in a faint way) I shall be out as early as I can, till which time believe me yours,

Affectionately,

John Millar Abm. Millar.

Another letter in the following year describes the wide spread enthusiasm for the Ohio migration as well as his own family affairs.

August 11, 1804.

Dear Jack

Excuse the seeming neglect of not writing sooner the most principle reason was that I was a good deal engaged about nothing and having nothing particular to communicate.

I saw Van Meter but had little conversation about your land. I proposed purchasing thinking that the most likely method to bring him to offer a good price for yours, he positively refused to sell on any terms but inclined to buy but not until he saw it again which he is anxious to do this fall if his legs will admit of his traveling. They have been very sore all summer. As he appeared anxious to buy and not willing to do so till he saw it, I thought that it was best not to appear over anxious to sell, he will be glad to give 15/- if he thinks as well of it when he sees it as he did when you purchased.

They have had a very wet season here much more so than was ever known, the North River has been several feet higher than it was ever known and has done a grate deal of damage the South River has not been so very high but so much wet has ruined the crops of small grain entirely in a number of instances. There is no instance in my hearing of there having half crops and even that worth but little. I never saw poorer crops of corn in my life, the prospect is dull in this country indeed which makes the people begin to be dissatisfied with it and are enxious to look out for a better.

Scioto is the cry of everybody. I never saw so grate a stur in a place in my life about a country as there is here about Scioto. I think seriously there have been twenty solicitors to take families out with me. I do not expect Raynolds will go out this fall or perhaps never. Pagget started in May to see the Country and got as far as Frankfort, and turned back on account of a sore finger. Trimmer has positively agreed to go on very good terms with me and I suppose he will comply. This is a very sickly season here, you can scarcely go in a house but there is more or less of the family down with some complaint or other.

I am anxious to hear from you to know how things are going, it appears like an age since I left there, times are dull here I am to return. I do not know what would be a sufficient inducement for me to have my interest in this country. I could not contain myself here after being acquainted with Scioto. I thought I was well pleased with it when I left there but it is a fact I think a thousand times better of it after riding a second time over this barren and impoverished country. Jack there is a material difference much more than I supposed before I returned.

Bill Elsy is going out with me this fall, Messrs. Bill Rout, Hanson (?) Martin, Smith Martin, McCloud, one of the Arturburns (?) and the Lord knows who else but the whole neighborhood appear ready to rise in a body march right off were they able but there is a grate many poore people that cannot get away. I wish I had it in my power to take them along, it gives me pain to see people starving as it were and if they were there could support themselves with so little labour—for particulars I refer you to Isaac who I suppose has come very unexpected to you.

I am yours &c.
Abm. Millar.

How little human nature changes through the years! How great seem the advantages of a much desired plan! How good is any advice which agrees with our purpose!

Another letter of the same date, to his youngest Brother but nineteen years old, looks toward the event which he leaves for Isaac to tell—his own marriage three days later.

August 11, 1804.

"Dear 'Neel'

An opportunity per Isaac offers to write which I embrace with pleasure, it being the first that has offered since I left you except by Post which I thought not altogether safe for which reason I put off writing till this favourable opportunity should come about and now have nothing of moment to mention but what Isaac can inform you of. I shall refer you to him for any information you may wish to receive and proceed to give you some little directions respecting what I want you to have done for me before I return which will be as soon as possible.

I wish you to get Murphy to roll the logs in the clearing at any rate, he offered to roll 12 acres for ten dollars give him at the rate of that or even more for I want them done. After they are rolled I wish James and you to burn them, if Haselet continues with you I wish him after you have done clearing the ground we had laid off, to go to grubbing adjoining below the clearing, that is between the clearing and Murphy's field. I wish it grubbed without any chopping being done except for rails. Let Bolenhause get what rails he can in the land I wish grubbed, after his time is out if—?—continues at the same terms let him continue to get rails till I get out.

I wish you also to get Murphy to put up the chimney of the house in the flat below the hill, try and have it fixt up right next the house adjoining and the passage between the two houses. I wish you to get somebody to get boards and cover and have them made tight.

I am giving you a good deal of trouble but hope to have it in my power to make you amends for it.

This would be a good opportunity for you to return but must insist on you to stay till my return which shall be as soon as possible, remind Murphy of the Blades he promised to get me I shall want a good many.

I am yours &c.

Cornelius Millar Abm. Millar."

Small wonder this homestead should have been peculiarly dear to Abraham—also it would appear young Cornelius to have been a responsible chap!

Letters from their brother Isaac[3] will be found under his name and wholly adequate to the situation.

"Bell Mount" June 7, 1821.

Dear Sister

I received your letter the 23rd of May which gave me a great deal of satisfaction to peruse it to hear you all enjoy health and also to visit Virginia once more. Sister I soon posted off to fathers with it to inform them of the good news, it so rejoiced them all that it almost cured father of the gout. And Newton of the Billious fever of which they have been complaining all winter almost, I heard from Newton this morning he is mending slowly and will start for your home the first or the middle of August.

Sister we are all very much elevated with the thought of seeing you again and are in hopes you will fetch one of your daughters or all of them if you can. Polly you have no preparation to make as in respect to yourselves only to make a dark sun bonnet apiece, fetch no clothing only a change with you.

* * * * * * * *

Brothers and sisters are generally well and all joines me in love to you all.

Lucinda Kendrick.

   II. Nellie[6] Millar, born— —: died September 18, 1904.
3. Polly Headley[5] Millar, born in Ohio December 16, 1850. Died in Illinois of Typhoid fever December 7, 1875.
4. Edwin Blaser[5] Millar, born in Ohio July 30, 1853; married February 21, 1888 Mary J. Miller (born in Williamsville, Illinois, June 6, 1856) daughter of Joseph Miller, born in Waynesboro, Pa. and his wife Nancy Eleanor (Harris) Miller, born in Newark, Ohio. Mrs. Millar died suddenly on March 16, 1928.

Farming, stock raising and coal mining interests occupied Mr. Millar upon the homestead of his parents in Sangamon County, Illinois until in 1918, when he moved to Springfield.

I. William Harris[6] Millar, born Feb. 11, 1889: died in 1918 from the effects of pneumonia.

II. Frank Curtis[6] Millar, born July 31, 1890: died October 16, 1910.

III. Warren George Edwin[6] Millar, born March 26, 1892. An automobile dealer in Springfield, Ill. Served in World War in 9th Co. of 22 Engineers. Married June 28, 1921 Frances C. Wright.

IV. Paul Joseph[6] Millar, born January 24, 1897.

Served in World War as gunner in 124th Machine Gun Battalion. Resides in Springfield. Married October 22, 1927 Avis Link.

6. OSCAR HENRY[5] MILLAR, born in Illinois Dec. 4, 1859: died there Aug. 5, 1880.
7. JAMES TURNER[5] MILLAR, born in Illinois December 28, 1864; married in September 1885 Dora Duncan (born in Williamsville, Feb. 1863) and died in St. Louis. Mo. Dec. 28, 1885. Mrs. Millar later married J. W. Mount of Williamsville, Ill.
   I. ROY DUNCAN[6] MILLAR, born June 6, 1886. Connected with the Equitable Assurance Society of the U. S. living in Decatur, Ill. (1924). Married March 2, 1911 Mae Currie (born March 28, 1890) daughter of David and Margarite Currie.

1. JAMES LAURENCE[7] MILLAR, born April 7, 1912.

9. MICHAEL[4] MILLAR [Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born May 13, 1825 in Scioto County, Ohio and died there September 15, 1827.

10. FRANKLIN[4] MILLAR [Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born January 3, 1830. Married April 24, 1855 Susan Newton Kendrick (born September 19, 1833) sister to Mrs. Abraham[4] and Mrs. Adam[4] Millar, all daughters of John and Lucinda (Headley) Kendrick.

The writer had the privilege of visiting Mrs. Millar in 1904 in the home to which she went a bride, the old home of her husbands people, and she then seventy-one years of age, of remarkable vigor and activity of body, unusually well stored mind and conversational gifts seldom equaled.

One of the precious treasures of this home was the body of a white satin gown worn with a "leghorn flat" by Mrs. Millar's mother Lucinda (Headley) Kendrick, at the first Inaugural Ball of President Jackson in 1824. Her entrance upon the arm of her father, William Headley of Front Royal, Va. in itself imposing and being at a time when the British Minister was expected, the Marine Band struck up the English air "God Save The Queen."

Only recently was found an old letter, written by Lucinda to her sister Polly in Ohio and this same "leghorn flat" is described in her own words, greatly adding to the picture of her stately entrance upon the ball.

"Now we come to the news, that is, my bonnet, what's called a leghorn flat. Sister if you was to see me coming with it on you would think it was brother Newton returning with his Ohio flat boat with the stern tucked up and a white flag on the chimney".

This home was also notable during the War between the States for its large hospitality toward both armies, being so near the boundary line.

Jeff Thompson and Lew Wallace being guests in the same week though Mr. Millar was a Southern sympathizer and member of the State Guard.

He died at his home near East Prairie, Mo., July 16, 1869 and lies buried in the family burial ground in the center of the beautiful garden adjoining the home grounds; his monument inscribed "Beloved in life, lamented in death, and will ever be remembered with affection."

Three children were born to this couple only one attaining majority—

1. ABRAHAM FRANKLIN[5] MILLAR [Franklin[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born January 18, 1856: died November 11, 1874.
2. LUCIAN DAVIS[5] MILLAR [Franklin[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born November 18, 1858. A grain dealer and large land owner in and about East Prairie, Missouri, combining in his personality more of the well recognized Millar traits of character and tricks of speech than any descendant known to the writer.

The query "was that all the water?" when some one offered him less than a full glass, forcibly reminded the writer, then a guest in his home, of her own grandfather who was wont to send one of the children to the spring for his large cupful of water and if less than full he would say "oh! is the spring going dry?"

These incidents widely separated in time and place, told to others of the family, have usually been acknowledged as indicating the universal family preference.

He married September 8, 1881 Ada L. Wilkinson

(born in Fulton, Ky., July 1864: died in Oklahoma August 3, 1917.)

I. Frances Irene[6] Millar [Lucian D.[5], Franklin[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born October 7, 1882; married in East Prairie, Mo. February 12, 1903 Claude E. White, then a grain dealer in Bertrand, Mo., but in 1906 removed to Oklahoma City where he established a wholesale hat and glove business.

1. Millar Barry[7] White. born December 21, 1903; married. Automobile business in Detroit, Mich.
2. Claude Edgar[7] White, born May 31, 1908.

II. A son[6] died in infancy.

III. Mary Maude[6] Millar [Lucian D.[5], Franklin[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born June 23, 1887; married June 8, 1911 Joseph P. Doyle of East Prairie, where they reside.

1. Ray Alexander[7] Doyle, born April 13, 1913.
2. Joseph P.[7] Doyle, Jr., born April 9, 1918.

IV. Ruby Sea[6] Millar [Lucian D.[5], Franklin S.[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born January 26, 1892; married first in Oklahoma City, November 28, 1917 William Oswald Mager, who served as sergeant at Ft. Sill, Okla., and died December 26, 1921. Married second in Los Angeles, Calif., January 1923 to H. H. Huggins. Address Los Angeles.

1. William O.[7] Mager, Jr., born November 1920.

V. Lucian Ray[6] Millar [Lucian D.[5], Franklin S.[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born August 10, 1893 in East Prairie. Married August 25, 1917 Kathryn Turner. Address Monroe, Louisiana.

1. Lucian Ray[7] Millar, Jr., born August 11, 1918.

3. John Ewell[5] Millar [Franklin[4], Abraham[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born February 4, 1864: died January 12, 1884.

"Stone House"
Graveyard and Vault on Millar Plantation.

4. Isaac[3] Millar, the fourth child and second son of William[1] and Elizabeth (Ferree) Millar was born in "Stone House", November 21, 1778.

Jointly with his brother Abraham[3] he inherited, by his fathers will, the homestead part of the Virginia Plantation and purchased his brother's interest soon after the first general land sale in Ohio in 1802 at which time his next younger brother John William[3] had purchased land in Scioto Co., Ohio and later on both Abraham[3] and Cornelius[3] the youngest of all bought large tracts in Pike County adjoining Scioto.

At one time when there was a great movement westward Isaac was almost persuaded by his older brother Abraham[3] to sell his Virginia land and join his brothers in Ohio, but his real state of mind and final decision are better told by himself in the following letters to John William[3], the writer's great grandfather.

One before, the other after, his marriage—

Shenandoah County,

Dear Jack

An opportunity offering, I cannot neglect writing tho I have nothing worth your time in reading: the winter has passed this far without my making any use of it or at least doing anything that will be an advantage to me, wrong hypothesis is always a disadvantage.

Since Abrahams return we have several times attempted to bargain but to no purpose, he is as obstinate as a little bull. I have offered to leave it to reference or give or take the highest price that could be got but he says d——n if he dont have his price.

I expect that a sale of the moveable property and division of the land will take place, if so I will some industrious person (if to be got) to attend to my part and in all probability be in your country early in the summer.

Jack I miss you as a confident and friend and no one that is able to fill your place, perhaps the contiguity of our abodes may yet double the bonds of friendship which will never weaken let the distance be ever so great. I lament the want of society and books you must experience but time is the only remedy. Your judgment I am convinct will lead you to the getting your land in grass as soon as possible, sow your timothy seed with oats early this spring and I am convinct you will perceive the difference between that way of getting provender for your stock and pulling corn blades or cutting it up.

Tell Polly that not long since I got so used to the road that leads to———— that I could hit the narrow slab that led out of the gateway the darkest night but————?

We are all well and hope you are the same—Yours &c, &c &c,

Isaac Millar.

Shenandoah County, April 15, 1808.

Dr. John

By so favourable an opportunity I cant get over writing: tho' Cornelius ability to inform you respecting everything in this part of the world makes a letter at this time of very little account.

Nancy has been very sick for a week past with dumb ague but am in hopes she is recovering.

You mention in yours by C—— an impression that we will be inhabitants of your state. I think cant give up good old Virginia, yet there is nothing could give me more satisfaction than for us to live near each other. A real friend and able confident is what I want, surrounded even as I am surrounded with friendly relations.

Mr. Headley was here a day or two past mentioned he had not time to write. Wished me to inform you he could not be out til the last of May. I was surprised to learn by your letter you had not rec'd one from me which Wm. Raynolds, Sr. very friendly opened and from what I can learn here saw Cornelius afterwards in Chillicothe. I suppose he sent it on and it was miscarried. Cornelius hurries me to start I must stop. Yrs as usual,

Isaac Millar.

It is well to keep in mind that Abraham and Isaac inherited the homestead plantation in Virginia; that John William was to have Kentucky land if he chose, if not he was to have its equivalent in money, the latter being his preference after he saw the Kentucky land on his way to the Ohio land soon to be opened for sale by the Government.

On so reliable authority as these letters of Isaac, and Abraham a little farther back, the writer feels the whole relationship should be glad to know how it was all adjusted and to honor the memory of Isaac, the one who finally chose to stay and hold the land of his inheritance, the land of his father's father; this decision was difficult to make, more difficult to follow, involving as it did for many years the raising of cash payments on his purchase of his brother's share and at a time when money was a scarce commodity.

One of his letters states he was out of debt to his brothers by the end of 1810.

A part of Issac's inheritance was 132 acres near Cabin Run about three miles from Kendrick's ford; later he bought about 200 acres from Mr. Lehew which descended to his daughter Catharine and is now a part of the plantation known as Rose Hill.

It was on this Lehew land that Isaac[3] Millar built a home to which he moved his family in very wet seasons, the land lying higher than that about Stone House. He married Ann Hall Richardson, daughter of Samuel and Catharine (Hall) Richardson (born Dec. 8, 1786: died Nov. 15, 1858). They both lie in the family burying ground on the old plantation.

The first member of the Richardson family in America was William Richardson who came from England to Maryland Circ. 1650. He was the first ordained, educated minister of the Society of Friends in Maryland, a man of high position and wealth and a personal friend of William Penn.

Samuel Richardson of Fortsmouth, Frederick Co. Va., was the son of William and his wife Isabella Calmes; and married Sarah Hall: the Halls came from New Jersey and it was their daughter Ann Hall Richardson who married Issac Millar.

To them were born three children:

1. Catherine Richardson[4] Millar. born June 5, 1807: died March 9, 1835.
2. Elizabeth Ann[4] Millar. born April 15, 1812.
3. Samuel Richardson[4] Millar. born May 31, 1817.

2. Elizabeth Ann[4] Millar [Isaac[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born April 15, 1812; married William Richardson, her cousin, born August 19, 1796.

Mrs. Richardson lived through the War between the States, seeing its hardships and privations, her beautiful home often used to shelter soldiers of the southland or commandeered as quarters for Northern Officers.

Her husband dying Sept. 21, 1859 was spared these experiences and the greater sorrow of losing their son barely twenty-one when he fell in battle.

Elizabeth Ann[4] (Millar) Richardson died June 29, 1888 and having lost all her six children she bequeathed Rose Hill to her nephew Samuel Rolfe[5] Millar.

They all lie buried in the Millar Family burying-ground near by.

1. Ann Rebecca[5] Richardson. born April 23, 1831: died August 24, 1855.
2. Daughter died in infancy, 1835.

3. William Millar[5] Richardson, born March 1841. "Lieut. of Warren Rifles, Co. B, 17 Regular Regiment Va. Volunteers, Pickett's Div. Longstreets Corps; wounded at Williamsburg, Va., May 6, of which he died May 26, 1862—age 21 years, 2 mos., 4 days."
4. May C.[5] Richardson, born July 16, 1844: died Oct. 20, 1849.
5. Sarah Isabella[5] Richardson, born June 7, 1846: died Oct. 7, 1849.
6. Samuel[5] Richardson, born May 24, 1850: died August 16, 1860.

3. Samuel Richardson[4] Millar [Isaac[3], William[2], William[1] Millar] born May 31, 1817 in Stone House, built by his great grandfather Circ. 1744.

He went to school first in Front Royal where the Catholic Church now stands, later attended school in Winchester where many of the early Millars and kinfolk were prepared for college.

He studied law at Lexington in Washington and Lee University and while there lived with his uncle John Richardson.

He practiced in Davenport, Iowa, and was at one time owner and editor of the "Davenport Democrat"; a man of both literary and business ability, early acquiring sections of land in Iowa's most fertile counties whose rise in value he only began to see, as he died in October 1861 when but forty-four years of age.

Samuel Richardson[4] Millar had married in Front Royal, Va., March 11, 1852 Susan Beverly Randolph, daughter of Gen. Thomas B. Randolph and his wife Maria (Mayer) Randolph: born in Cumberland Co., Va. Sept. 2, 1821, a sister of Christopher Peyton Randolph., a woman of brilliant mind and great charm.

Two children were born to this couple:

1. George Randolph[5] Millar, born in Davenport, Iowa July 3, 1854: died in Front Royal, Va. Oct. 21, 1857.
2. Samuel Rolfe[5] Millar [Samuel R.[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born in Front Royal, May 21, 1857.

   By request Mr. Millar wrote in 1905 a sketch of his life touching his mother's family, which is fittingly inserted here.

   "Born in Front Royal, Virginia where my parents were spending the summer though they were in those years residents of Davenport, Iowa. After the death of my brother in October we returned to Iowa and lived at "St. Anne's Prairie" the Millar sections No. 1 and 2 Blue Grass Twp. Scott county in the summer, and in Davenport in the winter.

After the death of my father Samuel R. Millar in October of 1861 my mother and myself moved to Dubuque, Iowa, where we spent about three years with her sister Mrs. M. E. R. Keim and with her brother Thomas Mann Randolph. who owned a farm about two or three miles from Cascade on the Farley Road.

I attended a private school in Dubuque kept by Mrs. Lawton and also the county schools near my uncle's farm.

In May 1865 we returned to Davenport and in June of '66 we went to Virginia where we lived for three years at Rose Hill, the home of my father's sister, Mrs. E. A. Richardson, adjoining the town of Front Royal. I attended school in the town during my stay here.

In the fall of 1869 we returned to Davenport and I entered the preparatory department of Griswold College and remained until the end of the school year in 1876.

During summer vacations my mother and self generally traveled in California, Canada on the upper Mississippi or visited my uncle Thomas Mann Randolph in Dubuque County, Iowa.

My grandfather Randolph spending his declining years with his son Thomas was a man of striking appearance and of gentle manner and knew how to entertain children.

He told of his life at West Point where he graduated in 1812, and the Army.

Hs was educated by his distinguished kinsman Thomas Jefferson, who prepared him in person for the Academy, paying particular attention to French and Mathematics; they read Napoleon's life together and studied his campaigns: a French book was always kept on the mantle-piece in the dining room and while waiting for the servants to set the table they would read together.

When Mr. Jefferson was not at Monticello he was assisted in his studies by his aunt Martha Jefferson Randolph and sometimes by his uncle, her husband.

He has frequently told me that Thomas Jefferson was not an Atheist, as he frequently spoke of Providence, The Creator, The Divine Power or Will.

He was very kind to my grandfather and when believed to be fully prepared to pass the entrance examinations to the Military Academy he was sent there in the Monticello carriage drawn by two large bay horses and driven by a colored man.

After the war of 1812 was over and my grandfather had distinguished himself, gaining the title of "Beardless Hero of Queenstown Heights" he returned to visit Mr. Jefferson at Monticello; when they met on the lawn Mr. Jefferson embraced him and kissed him on the cheek saying "Beverly, I am glad to see you and am glad too, that I appointed you to the Academy it was a good investment for the Government."

He gave him a watch and some jewelry and also Speaker Peyton Randolph's writing desk.

While I was attending Griswold College (1869 to '76) in Davenport the Collegiate department was discontinued about 1873-4 and I continued my collegiate studies with Prof. D. S. Sheldon who had been dean of the faculty.

In 1876 my mother and I went to Europe, sailing from New York in June: traveled through Ireland, Scotland, England, reaching Heidelberg in July: Studied German day and night, and soon attained a fairly good command of the language as I had been for a year in a German school in Davenport (1865-6) and was always fond of reading German stories.

I stayed at Heidelberg until May 26, 1880 when I graduated with the degree of Ph. D.: Spent 1880-1 at the University of Berlin studying Economics and history: traveled in the spring in Italy, returned to Heidelberg in June 1881.

My mother's health had meanwhile begun to fail and she was confined to her room until March 9th, 1882 when she died.

I was constantly at her bedside during her entire illness and returned with her remains to Virginia in the latter part of March, where they were laid to rest in the vault on the Millar Plantation west of Front Royal.

On October 3, 1882 I married Bertha Riedel of Heidelberg who was visiting her uncle in Brooklyn, N. Y We were married in the Presbyterian Church there by Rev. Dr. Van Dyke.

We first lived in Front Royal but were obliged to move to Iowa to look after some farm lands I had bought in Dickinson and Emmet counties. While in Davenport we lived in the Lyter house at the N. E. Corner 12 and Brady Streets which we bought.

For a year or more I was connected with the Davenport Gazette as assistant Editor and as president of the company publishing it.

In 1885 I went with my wife and baby Susie to Germany and in March 1886 was appointed U. S. Consul in Leipsig by President Cleveland, stayed there until the end of his term in '89: spent the next year in travel in Europe. returned to Virginia in August 1890 lived for three years in Charlottesville. lecturing on economics at the University of Virginia there, also attended law lectures and lectured at Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Va. in the University Extension Course.

We went to Germany in 1893 for a visit to my wife's people, returned to Virginia in the late summer of 1894 and commenced the erection of "Mountain View" our present home on the old Millar estate and with the exception of visits to Europe have lived here ever since.

I spend my time mostly in farming and reading, going to Iowa frequently to look after farm operations there.

In 1900 Prof. J. S. Grurer and I founded Eastern College in Front Royal which has been in every respect remarkably successful."

Since this time Mr. Samuel Rolfe Millar is thus recorded in Military Service: "Twenty years of service in 2nd. Va. Inf, Reg't, Va. National Guard, entering as private, retiring as a Colonel in Sept. 1918.

With 2nd Va. Inf, in Federal Service on Mexican border from July 1916 to March 1917; again in Federal Service in World War as Lieut. Col. 116th. Inf. and in training at Camp McClellan, Ala. Slated for foreign service with the Intelligence Section of the General staff a few days before the Armistice was signed."

2. Samuel Rolfe[5] Millar [Samuel R.[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born May 21, 1857; married in Brooklyn, N. Y. October 3, 1882 Bertha Riedel, daughter of Prof, Jacob and Susanne (Kramm) Riedel of Heidelberg, Germany (born Dec. 25, 1857) of distinct musical talent and a rare gift for home making and gracious cordiality as hostess to the many guests of their charming home. "Cousin Bertha" as the writer loved to call her, died Sept. 20, 1927.

To this old plantation where generations of Millars have come and gone, we all of us must look with pride and gratitude to one whose loyalty to family ties and traditions has been a steadfast purpose. Through the years of his life despite many opportunities for notable service in political and educational spheres he has preferred to live the life of a country gentleman ready with talents, time and means to aid any and every worthy enterprise for betterment of the community about him: devoted to his home and kinfolk, a joy to all who know him.

The home "Mountain View" built in 1894-5 is one mile east of "Stone House", the original Plantation home built by William[1] Millar about 1744.

Its situation is upon a higher part of the plantation on a hill sweeping up from the Shenandoah river where from its spacious grounds one may look into seven counties round about; Warren, Rappahannock, Faquier, Page, Shenandoah, Frederick and Clarke, while on a clear day, from the cupulo one may see Jefferson County, West Virginia.

Nowhere do the Blue Ridge Mountains better deserve their name. The Shenandoah National Park along North Mountain range of the Alleghenies and the Massanuttin area of the National Forest Reserve upon the other side of the plantation make it indeed a spot to be loved by all Millar descendants and a lasting testimony to the wise judgment of our ancestors.

To Samuel Rolfe and Bertha (Riedel) Millar were born five children, four daughters and one son.

I. Susan Bertha[6] Millar [Samuel Rolfe[5], Samuel Richardson[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Davenport, Iowa, May 1, 1884; given a careful musical education, developed an inherited talent and beautiful voice; used however for the delight of her friends rather than professionally.

She married first on May 17, 1904 in her home Mountain View, Otto Rudolph Maximillian Ruthardt a Lieutenant in the German Army (born in Stuttgart Jan. 9, 1882); married second on November 23, 1917 in New York City Alfred Pochon, a member since its organization, of the notable "Flonzaley Quartet"; a distinguished musician and a man of real worth.

Their summer home is near Lausanne in Switzerland, built by the great, grand uncle of Mr. Pochon, their winter home in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Pochon legally adopted the three children of his wife's first marriage and they are known only by his name.

1. Virginia Elizabeth[7] Pochon. born in Germany December 5, 1905, and with her brother and sister just younger was educated mainly in Lausanne; all have much musical talent.
2. Erica[7] Pochon was born in Front Royal, Va. January 21, 1907 and the past year has filled a position in the Musical Division of Congressional Library.
3. Rolfe Millar[7] Pochon. born in Front Royal, August 21, 1908; with the Farmers Loan and Trust Co. in New York City.
4. Alfred[7] Pochon, born February 1, 1919 in New York City. Died in infancy.
5. Beverly Randolph[7] Pochon. born in Lausaune February 1, 1922.
6. Susan Beverly[7] Pochon, born at Lutry, their home near Lausanne on March 6, 1924. Died in early infancy.

II. Elizabeth Ann[6] Millar [Samuel Rolfe[5], Samuel R.[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Offenberg, Germany, October 13, 1885; possessed like her sister of musical talent and cultivated voice; and is widely traveled.

III. Florence Virginia[6] Millar [Samuel Rolfe[5], Samuel R.[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Leipsig, July 9, 1887 while her father was U. S. Consul there, a personality very like her grandmother Susan Beverly (Randolph) Millar, a charming balance of sound judgment and aesthetic discrimination and holding dear old time traditions and belongings; a guardian of family Lares and Penates; has lived abroad a great deal and at her own expense did Reconstruction work in France after the World War, associated with Miss Anne Morgan.

She married October 3, 1907 Samuel Gardner[6] Waller (Rebecca[5], Sarah C.[4], Rebecca[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar) in her home Mountain View, to which she has returned.

IV. Samuel Rolfe[6] Millar, Jr. [Samuel Rolfe[5], Samuel R.[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Leipsig, Germany, February 12, 1889; educated in schools of Front Royal and at Washington and Lee University. He was appointed, after graduating from College 2nd. Lt. Va. Vols. 21 June 1911; promoted to 1st and Br. Adj. July 1913: mustered into

5. JOHN WILLIAM[3] MILLAR, the fifth child and third son of William and Elizabeth (Ferree) Millar was born in Stone House, Millar Plantation, October 31, 1781. Only nine years of age when his father died he grew early to be self reliant, was sent with his brother Isaac and Cousin David Hume Allen to school at Winchester where he prepared for *Princeton University, in the old records of that institution, listed as graduating in the fall of 1803.

His share of the paternal estate was to be land in Kentucky or a certain amount of pounds sterling together with a lot in the town of Front Royal, Va.

"The beauty and fertility of the Scioto Valley in Ohio induced many eastern and southern people to leave their homes to try the making of new homes and fortunes in the western wilderness; whither on horseback John William and several equaintances from near Moorefield, W. Va. went in the spring of 1801."

Leaves from a diary of this trip tell of the long miles, rough roads, swollen streams and torrential rains which they encountered but through and above which the spirit of youth and adventure was supreme.

With commendable faithfulness young Millar left his companions in Ohio, where he had met up with his Cousin William[3] Millar who had settled in Pickaway County in 1799, and alone pushed on to Kentucky where his diary states he purposed sinking a tan yard should he like the prospect.

He records his disappointment in the land, rides to the home of his Aunt Mrs. Mary (Ferree-Graff) Willet near Bardstown for a visit and rest before going back to Scioto for the first sale of Government lands in Ohio, where in 1802 he bought Section No. 1 and part of No. 2, the original patent being the only deed on record to the present day (1928)—as follows:

THOMAS JEFFERSON

President of the United States of America.

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greeting:

Know ye that John William Millar and Isaac Van Meter having deposited in

*In 1917 a letter from the Editor of Biographical Statistics for Princeton University, said he had just learned that the writer was a great grand daughter of John Millar of the Valley of Virginia who graduated from that institution in the Autumn of 1803 and asked for a photograph of the man and any other facts. Her possession of latin books and letters speaking of his preparation for Princeton were reported and accepted as verification of the relationship though no diploma is known to exist.

the Treasury a Certificate of the Register of the Land Office at Chillicothe whereby it appears that full payment has been made for Lot or Section number one in Township number Three of the Twenty Second Range (Langham's Survey) and fractional section number Two thereto adjoining, of the Lands directed to be sold at Chillicothe by the act of Congress entitled "An Act providing for the sale of Lands of the United States, in the territory northwest of the Ohio and above the mouth of the Kentucky River" and of the acts amendatory of the same, there is granted, by the United States, unto the said John William Millar and Isaac Van Meter lot or section of land as above described: To have and to Hold the said lot or section and fractional section of land with the appurtenances, unto the said John William Millar and Isaac Van Meter their heirs and assigns forever."

In testimony whereof I have caused these letters to be made Patent, and the Seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed.

Given under my hand at the City of Washington the seventh day of October, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Eight and the Independence of the United States the thirty third.

By the President. TH. JEFFERSON,

James Madison,

(SEAL) Secretary of State.

Recorded Vol. 6, page 150, Miscellaneous."

The next year after buying his land in Ohio, John W.[3] Millar married September 22, 1803 Polly Headley, daughter of William and Sarah (Northern) Headley whose home was five miles down the Shenandoah river from the Millar home and four miles from Front Royal.

She was the third in a family of ten children reared in luxury and entirely unused to the hardships awaiting the wife of a pioneer, but how well she bore her part and with what cheerful sweetness she reared her family in the new home, it has been the good fortune of the writer to hear from her own grandfather, who was one of that family of children; he also said "she was very beautiful, with blue black hair and very fair complexion, a large woman but not stout."

Their trip out from Virginia was made with wagon and four horse team, carrying an unusually large outfitting of household goods, kitchen utensils, crockery, furniture and even china, several pieces of which are cherished as heirlooms by various descendants.

For the first three years they lived in a log cabin which had been built by "squatters" on the land before the time of its purchase, but in 1806 was built a large log house with great stone chimneys at either end, which stands today, as one of the good homes in the Scioto Valley.

With its surrounding nine hundred acres it has descended by inheritance in the family to a great-grand son.

In 1826 on the 2nd of May, Polly (Headley) Millar died after a brief illness during the absence of her husband and son William on a business trip down the Mississippi river, they having left home in March with a boat loaded with corn, bacon and whiskey—for nearly all the early Ohio settlers of means were wont to run a "still" of some size—as was the annual custom; the father however, rarely accompanying the shipment.

The shock of his mother's death left its impress upon the nineteen year old son who was wont with swimming eyes when an old man to regret that he might not have been with her at the last.

The husband and father lived to be an old man absorbed more than ever as time passed with reading and study of his favorite Latin authors and in writing letters to kinfolk by whom they were then praised as of real literary merit and are now a source of pride and inspiration to his descendants.

He died January 27, 1857 and lies buried beside his wife in the family burying ground upon "Shady Mount Farm."

The inscription he had carved upon her tomb reads:—

POLLY MILLAR

> "Wife of John W. Millar who died May 2nd, 1826, aged 43 years and 11 months, leaving her disconsolate husband and six children to deplore their irreparable loss. She was a dutiful daughter, an affectionate wife, a fond and prudent mother, a prompt and sincere friend."

The children of John William[3] Millar and his wife Polly (Headley) Millar were:—

1. ELIZABETH E.[4] MILLAR. born July 9, 1804.
2. SARAH NORTHERN[4] MILLAR, born September 17, 1805.

3. WILLIAM HEADLEY[4] MILLAR, born February 28, 1807.
4. MARIA MINTA[4] MILLAR, born January 3, 1815.
5. ISAAC N.[4] MILLAR, born August 20, 1816: died October 2, 1816.
6. ABRAHAM FERREE[4] MILLAR, born May 26, 1818.
7. CHARLES[4] MILLAR, born July 18, 1820.

1. After the death of her mother Elizabeth[4] Millar presided over her father's home for a year then married May 22, 1827 her cousin Franklin[4] Raynolds who lived but a few months, dying September 1827 in their home at Raynolds Mills, near Canton, Ohio.

She returned to her fathers home where she remained until her death January 16, 1875. No descendants.

Letter from John William[3] Millar to his daughter upon the death of her husband.

My dear Daughter

I have just rec'd your letter, I need not tell you its contents fill me with deepest sorrow—a sorrow for those he has left behind, not for him whose situation I firmly believe to be far better than where surrounded by the troubles, difficulties and dangers of this world—you will stand in need of all the fortitude and firmness which I always considered you to inherit from your beloved mother—and endeavor not to indulge the mind in those deep sorrows which can only incapacitate you for the discharge of those duties you owe to yourself and those around you—in short let reason guide you instead of passion.

Myself or William will start for Canton in a few days—he is not at home now—if nothing happens more than I know now, one of us will be there in two or three weeks from this time. Our neighborhood has been quite unhealthy—a great many deaths—our own family have had no severe attacks—all have complained more or less except Charles and myself.

I rec'd two letters by this mail from William which I will answer at a future day if I do not go myself to Canton.

Your sister and little brothers sympathize deeply with you.

In the meantime give my good wishes to your Aunt and all the rest of the connection and believe me to be with former and renewed affection

Piketon, O. Jno. W. Millar.
Sept. 30.

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Raynolds
Canton
Stark Co. Ohio.

2. SARAH NORTHERN[4] MILAR, born Sept. 17, 1805: married December 20, 1829 James B. Turner of Piketon, Ohio, who died December 9, 1860.

1. JANE ELIZABETH[5] TURNER [Sarah N.[4], John Wm.[3],

William[2], William[1]], born Nov. 7, 1830; married October 24, 1850 Christian Blaser (born in Langnau, Switzerland) who as a physician enjoyed a profitable practice and the confidence of his patients and friends, he died July 24, 1888 and his wife died March 31, 1890 leaving a son and a daughter.

I. James Turner[6] Blaser, born in Piketon, Ohio January 20, 1852, who succeeded to his father's drug business and kept the same location and methods of its operation in Waverly, Ohio.

He married in the summer of 1912 Mrs. Elizabeth Clough (nee Overman). At present he is in very ill health. No descendants.

II. Annie Maria[6] Blaser, born in Piketon, February 22, 1855; married in Waverly, Ohio, December 11, 1884 Charles E. Bonebrake, son of Rev. Daniel and Hester Ann (Bishop) Bonebrake of Westerville, Ohio.

1. James Blaser[7] Bonebrake, born June 25, 1890: died March 8, 1893.

Mrs. Bonebrake died in Columbus, O. May 14, 1910.

2. John William Millar[5] Turner [Sarah Northern[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born April 29, 1834. Deceased. No descendants.

3. William Headley[4] Millar, third child and first son of John William and Polly (Headley) Millar, was born February 24, 1807. Married first in Guernsey Co., Ohio Rebecca Ann C. Linn on Feb. 24, 1831, who died within a year.

He married second February 17, 1835 Rebecca Sidney Steenbergen, who was then the widow of William Knapp of Waverly, Ohio, and the daughter of Charles Steenbergen and his second wife Lavisa (Lucas) Steenbergen, a sister of Robert Lucas, twice Governor of Ohio and territorial Governor of Iowa. The parents of Rebecca were both of notable Colonial ancestry both in the early settlements and in Colonial Wars—her paternal great grandmother being Isabella Pendleton, twin sister to Edmund Pendleton, eminent jurist and signer of the Declaration of Independence.

They owned a farm farther down the pike from Shady Mount Farm, given him by his father and called "Red Bud" from the large number of trees of that kind in the native woodland on the place. On it they built a commodious brick and stone house where five of their six children were born, and where they lived until 1850 when through errors in judgment and perfidy of friends he lost heavily and moved with his family to Muscatine Co., Iowa, bought a farm four miles west of Muscatine which in its situation, fertility and natural beauty must have suggested to him as it does to the writer the Scioto Valley homestead and the older Millar home plantation in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia.

Seldom the heritage of a sunnier nature or larger heart than was possessed by William Headley Millar—he was everybody's "Uncle Billy" with a pleasant word and helpful hand for all—but lacked the business acumen so generally possessed by the early Millar men.

Early in his Iowa home he laid upon his two older sons the active management of the farm and spent his later years in the busy rounds of odd errands, the chum and companion of adoring grand children, and his frail wife whom he outlived but a few years—she dying March 15, 1880 and he on April 13, 1886 while on a visit to his sister Mrs. Maria (Millar) Chenoweth in Sangamon County, Illinois.

1. Charles Steenbergen[5] Millar [William H.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Scioto Co., Ohio, June 2, 1836; attended Cornell College at Mt. Vernon, Iowa until the breaking out of the Civil War when he enlisted with the Union Armies and served four years in Co. G. Second Iowa Cavalry, without wound or serious illness, seeing the hardest of service and reaching the rank of Captain March 1, 1864 together with thirty days furlough, the only respite in four years.

   He served from his enlistment in August 1861 till his discharge in September 1865.

A man of much reserve of manner and strength of character, hard working and a successful farmer in Muscatine County, Iowa, where he died of pneumonia December 31, 1906.

He married September 10, 1873 Cynthia McCloud of the same county (born Jan. 14, 1852) daughter of David and Phoebe (Chataway) McCloud who survives him (1928) in Muscatine, Iowa.

Their three children were born on the Millar farm in that county, known as "Aetna Springs".

I. David William[6] Millar, born February 1, 1875; married September 15, 1900 Margaret Meehan and resides in Cuba. No children.

II. Rebecca Phoebe[6] Millar, born July 3, 1876; married September 4, 1905 Arthur John Altekruse (born June 14, 1878, son of Henry Rudolph and Sarah Matilda (Addleman) Altekruse). A farmer in Muscatine County residing in Muscatine.

III. Clara[6] Millar, born March 3, 1878; attended College at Mt. Vernon, Iowa, graduating in 1899; married August 14, 1902 Rev. John F. Robertson of the M. E. Church, then in the Iowa Conference, now in Duluth, Minn. (Son of Rev. James Fletcher and Victoria (Gilbert) Robertson).

1. Theodora Marjorie[7] Robertson, born July 30, 1905. Graduated at Ohio Wesleyan University.
2. Charles Edwin[7] Robertson, born July 12, 1909.

2. John William[5] Millar [William H.[4], John William[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Scioto Co., Ohio, on Red Bud farm May 14, 1838; spent much time when a growing lad with his grandfather for whom he was named and with whom he was a great favorite.

After removing with his parents to Iowa he helped on the farm until the outbreak of the Civil War when he enlisted in May of '61 1st Iowa Infantry Co. A, under Capt. Cummings for 90 days. The command held the men for the Battle of Wilson Creek and discharged at St. Louis in August of 61.

Having had typhoid fever he was in no condition to re-enlist. also finding his brothers in the Service he was needed at home but was drafted in September 1863.

Not yet in sound condition his parents hired a substitute. His mother, the writers grandmother, said they felt both the fact of draft and the thousand dollars a great hardship until the substitute fell in battle, when they had only cause for thankfulness he was not their son.

At the close of the War he joined his brother Charles in equal ownership and management of the Etna Springs farm, which many years afterward they divided, Charles taking the western part on which were situated the home buildings while John William moved a house from an adjoining farm he had acquired to the eastern part of the old farm.

Living here, a vital part of county and community interests, always having much to do, but always plenty of time to enjoy good music whether with friends in his own home, or of professional sort in Muscatine where both he and his wife sang for years in the Presbyterian Church to which they belonged.

After her death he cast about for some years for a new location and in 1901 sold all his Iowa interests and moved to Garnett, Kansas, where on a suburban place he led a busy yet less strenuous life with two of his daughters until on March 17, 1927 he died from the effect of a cold and a weakening heart, of which he had been warned yet was of such optimistic spirit and muscular vigor as to have felt no apprehension.

There are some people who so brighten the horizon of ones life it is difficult to go on without them; also it has seemed much less worth while to continue the preparing of a history of the Millar Family when he who exemplified so much of its quality and had first urged its undertaking, would never see its completion.

John William[5] Millar married in Muscatine, Iowa, November 3, 1864 Henrietta Mikesell (born in Indiana County, Pennsylvania Sept. 4, 1836) who had been a teacher in the schools of Muscatine and possessed an alto voice of charming quality, a lasting delight to her family and friends: she died in their Muscatine home in December of 1893.

Four daughters were born to them on the Etna Springs Farm in Muscatine County, Iowa.

I. Anna[6] Millar, born August 14, 1865, received an excellent musical education and through her proficiency and native general ability was for seven years the business manager of the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, a notable institution of its time, making for it its greatest financial success and giving her vast experience in handling temperamental people together with opportunities of travel.

After repeated resignations and trips abroad to secure recuperation, she finally severed her connection with the company and for years took life less strenuously as a general musical promoter, first in and about New York, later in Kansas City, then Florida where she died April 22, 1928.

II. Hallie[6] Millar, born October 25, 1867, educated in the schools of Muscatine where she taught several years until after the death of her mother she assumed the making of her fathers home both in Iowa and in Kansas.

III. Henrietta[6] Millar born November 27, 1868, a business women first in Chicago while her sister was with the Thomas Orchestra and later an Abstractor and Real Estate Agent with an office in Garnett, Kansas.

A woman of indomitable courage and loyalty to duty, whose love and faithful ministrations to her father and in their home no doubt lengthened his life.

IV. Elizabeth Elton[6] Millar, born August 30, 1870: died May 1873.

3. Abraham Henry[5] Millar [William H.[4], John William[3], William[2], William[1]] born on Red Bud Farm, Ohio, September 24, 1840. In his early years adventurous and fond of new experiences.

He served in the Civil War full four years without accident in the 2nd Iowa Cavalry; after which he married in Muscatine County, Iowa November 29, 1866 Almyra McGrew, daughter of John and Lydia Ann (Willetts) McGrew (born May 22, 1845).

The first years of their married life were spent subduing prairie farms in Nebraska and Northern Iowa, later they returned to farming in Muscatine County and finally to an Express and Transfer business in Muscatine where he died March 18, 1916.

He was of jovial disposition, industrious and optimistic, a faithful church member.

His wife survived him six years, dying June 23, 1922 at the home of her son Drew, in St. Charles, Ia.

To them were born six children—

I. Lizzie[6] Millar [Abraham H.[5], Wm. H.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born in Manard Co., Ill. February 26, 1868. Married Dec. 13, 1888 William H. Randleman, a grocer in Muscatine, Iowa.

1. Leota[7] Randleman, born November 16, 1890; married September 28, 1911 Roland G. McVeay (born Jan. 1, 1880 in New York City.)
   1. Ruth Leota[8] McVeay, born Aug. 28, 1915.

II. John William[6] Millar [Abraham H.[5], Wm. H.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born in Cass Co., Neb., Sept. 29, 1870. A successful business man, owning and operating in Muscatine a Storage Plant. Married September 22, 1897 Clara Hess; their home always open and hospitable and a real rallying place for kinfolk and family interests.

III. Nellie Grant[6] Millar [Abraham H.[5], Wm. H.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born November 20, 1872 in Oceola Co., Iowa; married November 28, 1895 Frederick M. Zeigler, Life and Fire Insurance, also Real Estate business in Muscatine, Iowa.

1. Elmer Millar[7] Zeigler, born September 24, 1896; a graduate of Innis School of Music in Chicago. A teacher and dealer in musical instruments in Muscatine, Iowa. Married June 21, 1920 Wilma Dorothea Busch (born Dec. 20, 1890.)
   1. Dorothy Miriam[8] Zeigler, born July 20, 1922.
   2. Frederick William[8] Ziegler, born March 9, 1926.

   Elmer Millar[7] Zeigler spent 20 months as yoeman in the Navy during the World War with the Bird Fleet in the North Sea for the removal of mine Barage.

IV. Grace[6] Millar, born in Muscatine County, Iowa, March 16, 1875; died January 1st, 1897.

V. Rita[6] Millar [Abraham H.[5], Wm. H.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born in Muscatine November 2, 1877; married September 19, 1904 Albert Chandler Atherton, Civil Engineering Contractor.

1. Lauraine[7] Atherton, born October 23, 1908.
2. Donald Millar[7] Atherton, born March 4, 1912.

VI. Frank Drew[6] Millar [Abraham H.[5], Wm. H.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born March 26, 1888; married at Ames, Iowa, June 11, 1914 Mary Ethel Ramey (born March 9, 1890, Knoxville, Iowa).

Farming near St. Charles, Iowa.

4. Polly Headley[5] Millar [William Headley[4], John William[3], William[2], William[1]], born in Scioto County, Ohio, on Red Bud Farm, October 21, 1843; married November 13, 1860 Rev. Emory Miller of the M. E. Church, son of Samuel and Mary (Eicher) Miller, then of Johnson Co., Iowa, formerly of Pennsylvania.

In response to a request for a sketch of his life, my father sent me the following:

"In an old fashioned brick farm house east of, now the borough of, Mount Pleasant, Westmoreland County, Pa. I was born December 23, 1834 being the eighth son of my parents, one of whom had deceased in childhood.

For over nineteen years Mount Pleasant was my home town; here I attended district school and later the newly founded Mount Pleasant College. In the autumn of 1854 with my parents I removed to Iowa settling temporarily in Iowa City, permanently on a farm near that city.

Farm life and home study thence forward occupied me until in September 1855 I entered the Seminary afterwards chartered "Cornell College" at Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

After four terms here closing with the fall of 1856 I spent the ensuing winter on the farm teaching the neighborhood school and on Sundays holding religious services in various country places; at several of which I organized churches.

In March of 1857 I became a student at "Garrett Biblical Institute", Evanston, Ill.; seeking preparation for the ministry to which I had been licensed in 1855 by the M. E. Church at Iowa City.

Here, however, overstudy and unwholesome food soon broke up my health and my plans, insomuch that in March of 1858 I returned home.

After a few weeks recuperation on the farm I was appointed by the Presiding Elder to act as junior Pastor of Pleasant Valley circuit, a triangular territory bounded by the Iowa and Cedar rivers and the C. R. I. and P. railroad; later I was officially recommended by the Quarterly Conference of this Circuit for admission to the Iowa Annual Conference and accordingly was received into that body at its next ensuing session, Sept. 1858.

Two years later I was transferred by Bishop Janes to the Missouri Conference and appointed pastor of Simpson Chapel, St. Louis.

In this year my marriage took place at the residence of my wife's parents in Muscatine County, Iowa, November 13, 1860.

Owing to the breaking up of our church work in Missouri, incident to the Civil War, I re-transferred to Iowa in September 1861 and was appointed to the pastorate of Ebenezer, later named Central Church Burlington: and after two years stay was appointed pastor of our Church in Cedar Rapids of the "Upper Iowa Conference."

Nineteen years of work in this conference followed by two years as pastor of First Church, St. Paul, Minnesota Conference and this by twenty years in the Des Moines Conference make out for me a record of forty-nine years in the ministry.

Besides the three epochal events of common biography, birth, marriage and death and the specific interests of love, home and kindred, I have regarded these three as the most important incidents of my experience, namely: The initiative of the spiritual life by faith; the call to the ministry and the production of the "Evolution of Love."

The first was indescribably vivid, the second a persistent cup, the third my deepest experience of hard work exalted by an unflagging interest.

Now on the threshold of my seventieth birthday, bearing the responsibilities of an important pastorate, I look forward without perceiving any probable interruption to another decade of effective ministry.

What sudden change may leap from out the unseen is for God's hand to unleash: I am honored above measure if for me to live is Christ and to die is gain."

My father died July 3, 1912 in Des Moines, three days after a fall from tripping over a bit of wire in his garden, and lies buried in the cemetery at Muscatine, Iowa, a spot he thought most beautiful, situated on high bluffs overlooking the Mississippi river, where during the years of his itineracy he had been pleased to look forward to resting at the end of his labors.

By the courtesy of Colleges my father received the following degrees:

"Master of Arts"—1863 by Iowa Wesleyan University.

"Doctor of Divinity"—June 1879 by State University of Iowa.

"Doctor of Laws"—June 1888 by State University of Iowa.

I. Eva[6] Miller [Polly H.[5], William H.[4], John William[3], William[2], William[1] Millar], born May 23, 1862 in Burlington, Iowa; graduated B. Ph. from the State University of Iowa, at Iowa City, June 1883; married in Des Moines, Ia. October 27, 1886 Clinton L. Nourse (born in Rushville, Ohio, July 5, 1855). He attended Cornell College at Ithica, N. Y. and Law school at Iowa State University, graduating in 1880. Entered immediately upon the practice of Law in Des Moines; has never permitted himself to be a candidate for public office but has preferred private practice in which he is actively engaged (1928). He is the son of Joseph Gabriel and Sophronia A. (Abbott) Nourse and great, great, grandson of James Nourse of Herefordshire, Eng., who settled in Virginia in 1769.

1. EMORY MILLER[7] NOURSE, born in Des Moines, Iowa, February 12, 1889; graduated cum laude, class 1911 Princeton University; Harvard Law School 1914; his father's partner until the World War. Commissioned 1st Lieut. Q. M. C. August 15, 1917 in Transportation Corps Unit 302. Proficiency in languages doubtless occasioned on April 13, 1918, his order to Headquarters at Chaumont to serve with Enemy Intelligence Section until the close of the war. Promoted Capt. October 7, 1918. Retained with the Army of Occupation, he was Intelligence enemy censor at Trier; later a member of the Permanent Interallied Armistice Commission at Cologne and finally discharged at Coblenz, August 4, 1920.

   Afterward however, though a civilian, he acted as Intelligence Officer in the Divisional Manoevers in Germany.

   Now practicing his profession as junior counsel of Bankers Life Insurance Co., Des Moines, Iowa.
2. RODERICK[7] NOURSE, born in Des Moines, Iowa, June 10, 1892; graduated from Princeton University Class 1914. Served in U. S. Army from May 1917 to December 1918; Commissioned 2nd Lieut. in Air Service January 1918. After leaving the Army, went abroad for Standard Oil Co. of N. Y. in whose service he remained until 1925, being stationed at Salonica, Greece; and Smyrna, Turkey. Aat present in the Bond Business in Chicago.

CHARLES[4] MILLAR

ABRAHAM[4] MILLAR

MRS. MARIA MILLAR[4] CHENOWITH

CORNELIUS ELTON[4] MILLAR

WILLIAM H.[4] MILLAR

MRS. SARAH MILLAR[4] TURNER

DESCENDANTS IN THE WILLIAM[2] MILLAR LINE.

One year after her fathers death she married in the home of her sister in Indianola, Iowa, August 28, 1889 Jeremiah Shade, farmer and Banker in Northern Iowa, later another invalid for her care who died September 15, 1901. After which she became a member of her sisters household and died in Des Moines, Nov. 8, 1918 and lies buried beside her parents at Muscatine, Iowa.

6. Elizabeth Sidney[5] Millar [William Headley[4], John William[3], William[2], William[1]], born on Etna Springs Farm near Muscatine January 27, 1850; died there of scarlet fever January 14, 1861. Lies buried at Muscatine.

4. Maria Minta[4] Millar, fourth child of John William[3] and Polly (Headley) Millar, born January 3, 1815; married January 27, 1842 Gideon Chenowith (born Pee Pee, Pike Co. Ohio, Jan. 15, 1813) who died from the effects of a kick from a horse February 7, 1847.

After her husbands death Mrs. Chenowith again lived in her fathers home "Shady Mount", a very angel of mercy in all cases of sorrow and sickness near her.

After the fathers death in 1857 she moved to Sangamon County, Ill. having bought a farm adjoining her brother Charles Millar, where it was the writers privilege to visit her at the age of ninety and read vast quantities of old letters and to hear from her own lips tales of early days in Ohio which because of her vigorous mind and sound memory, enabled the writer to put together many before unrelated facts of family history.

No children of her own but from their infancy she had raised two orphan girls, aunt and niece, Delilah Williams and Polly K. Stewart, both born in Ohio; the older of these she survived, living to the great age of ninety-five years: dying in August 1910.

5. Abram Ferree[4] Millar, the fifth child of John William[3] and Polly (Headley) Millar was born on "Shady Mount Farm," May 26, 1818; married March 3, 1840 Harriet Peters (born Nov. 27, 1822 in Pike Co., Ohio) the daughter of Capt. Elisha and Drusilla (Guthrie) Peters and grand daughter of Gen. Guthrie, one of the earliest settlers in Ohio, who owned a large part of Pike County.

His older brother having already been settled upon "Red Bud Farm" five miles away before his father died, Abraham inherited "Shady Mount" and here their children were born, only two of the four attaining majority.

He died February 28, 1868 and lies buried in the Millar Cemetery at Shady Mount, his wife dying June 21, 1903.

1. GEORGE BLISS[5] MILLAR, born January 10, 1843.
2. CHARLES WILLIAM[5] MILLAR, born November 16, 1844: died September 6, 1863.
3. ELIZABETH RAYNOLDS[5] MILLAR, born November 28, 1846: died in infancy.
4. FRANKLIN FERREE[5] MILLAR, born August 28, 1850.

Was a merchant in Portsmouth, Ohio until his death December 7, 1880, survived only by his wife Elizabeth (Thomas) Millar whom he had married May 28, 1877 in Lucasville, Ohio.

1. GEORGE BLISS[5] MILLAR [Abram F.[4], John Wm.[3], William[2], William[1]], born Jan. 10, 1843; inherited Shady Mount Farm and deserved especial mention for the energy, patience and fidelity with which he preserved that inheritance through years of money stringency and various adverse conditions.

   His good business judgment and determination to keep the old home in the family together with the unfailing cheerfulness and cooperation of his wife has preserved to the whole clan much more than just the physical building and ground; the spirit of self sacrificing thrift, of perpetuity of ideals is not so common in this country in these days and is worthy of praise.

   The old home has not been modernized or remodeled beyond the installation of private lighting plant and water supply, telephones and general restorative upkeep, hence nothing is lost of old time charm as one enters the large rooms with great fireplaces and broad window recesses; hand wrought woodwork and beamed ceiling showing skill beyond present-day hand labor.

George Millar married January 27, 1866 Annie Carre of Portsmouth (born in Chillicothe, Dec. 5, 1846) daughter of Thomas and Martha Carre.

In 1916 they celebrated their golden wedding surrounded by their children and grandchildren who presented them with a golden plate upon which was engraved all their names round about the two names George B. Millar and Annie E. Carre with the date of the anniversary. Mrs. Millar lives (1928) in the old home, her husband having died October 24, 1920.

Five children were born to them:

1. NELLIE[6] MILLAR, born October 15, 1868.
2. ABRAM FERREE[6] MILLAR, born October 1, 1870.
3. CHARLES W.[6] MILLAR, born April 12, 1875 .

1. JOHN WILLIAM[7] MILLAR, born November 1915.

6. CHARLES[4] MILLAR, youngest child of John William[3] and Polly (Headley) Millar, born on Shady Mount Farm, Ohio July 18, 1820. Married October 12, 1843 his cousin Rebecca[4] Millar (Abraham[3], William[2], William[1]) whose fathers home adjoined Shady Mount and where they lived until 1854 when they removed to Sangamon County, Ill., where they many years later died and lie buried, Charles on April 19, 1888 and his wife on September 22, 1901.

They were prosperous, accumulating large farming interests much of the land underlaid with coal deposits later developed by his son to whom the home place descended, the other living son having moved farther west years before.

Seven children were born to them:

1. William Headley[5] Millar, born in Ohio, Feb. 8, 1845: died in Illinois August 28, 1864.
2. Gideon Chenowith[5] Millar, born in Ohio July 9, 1848: died February 2, 1825.

6. Cornelius *Elton[3] Millar [William[2], William[1]] the sixth and youngest child of William and Elizabeth (Ferree) Millar, was born in the ancestral home of the Millars near Front Royal, Virginia, then in Shenandoah County, January 4, 1785; a child of but five when his father died, he seems to have been the special charge of his three older brothers whose ideas he valued and whose ways he sought to follow.

He first went to Ohio from Virginia in 1800 when but a lad of fifteen learning surveying with his brother John

*Mrs. Dora Duncan Millar, years later married John Wagner Mount; Address Williamsville, Illinois. She has aided often in securing Millar data.

*The shorter and later spelling of Eltinge or Eltynge. His maternal grand mother was Elizabeth Eltinge.

William who seemed from letters to have been also his advisor and friend.

He purchased land in Pike Co., adjoining his brothers in Scioto and for several years while waiting to dispose of land in Maryland and make settlement of their mutual interests with his brother Isaac in Virginia he fretted to be in that new State on his own land as the following letter shows, written in a refined hand, perfectly legible after a hundred and twenty three years.

Shenandoah County, Vg.: 22 March '05.

Esteemed Brother

Just returned from the Singing School where I understood that Mr. Offner was about to start in a few days for Scioto, and the promise we made a short time before I started, to write by every opportunity, I embrace the present.

Though I have nothing to communicate worth your attention. I arrived safe home the 11th day after I started. You may guess what followed, I found them all deaf to my going into business here all the cry was Scioto. I have at length determined to return to Scioto and accept of the offer Abraham made me, if he should now refuse to comply with offers he has made me, I shall look out for a small and good piece of land such as I can buy and make some improvement directly in the neighborhood if possible.

I believe there is no liklyhood of Isaac settling or if he does there is nothing coming he says———I have traded with †Mastin for the Land in Maryland, gave him Seel and Nels and 125$, when the land is sold. Mammy and the rest of the family are well. ‡Mr. Headley's family is well excepting Miss Winny. She has the fever very badly if she recovers, expect her in the spring. ———*Aunt Miskimius is dead 14th Febry, the day that I left there. †Uncle Ferree has sold his land to /Allen and expects to go to the westward next fall.

Cor'l Millar.

A few months later Cornelius again writes to John William with requests to have his Ohio "land cleared and logs rolled for a cabin and rails mauled to inclose half a mile square in the bottom adjoining the building ground" also says "Isaac and myself have traded, Dave is his and the land mine, all accounts are square and he is to pay you 100$ which I expect to bring out x x x x x Mammy is still anxious to come out."

This time with his majority about to be reached and his new life in sight he signs his whole name, Cornelius E. Millar.

*His Mother's sister, Rachael Ferree: †Cornelius Ferree: ‡Father of Mrs. John Wm.[3] Millar: /Husband of his Aunt Abigail (Millar) Allen; xHis brother-in-law, husband of Rebekah Millar.

On February 2, 1806 Cornelius from his own place in Ohio writes back to his brother Isaac in Virginia, tells of his trip out, of overtaking the Mastins on the way, they stopping in Portsmouth, "settling to their satisfaction"; tells of a trip to Kentucky he must make after which he expects to return to Virginia for their mother.

In 1807 she is established with her negro maid and a housekeeper named Poffenbarger in the log house prepared for them.

He bought and drove horses to eastern markets where he sold them.

His mother was moved to the more comfortable home of her oldest son Abraham the year before her death. Two years after which Cornelius built a large square stone house on his land, and it was here before his marriage, the first Post Office for this section of Ohio was for some time operated.

A large number of books belonging to his descendants testified to his pursuit of knowledge and the attainment of some of the higher branches of collegiate curriculum.

As in the case of his brother John William, the disposition and purpose to acquire knowledge manifested itself at a time when the acquisitive faculties were commonly busy with property interests: education was deemed not so necessary and was more dearly bought. Cornelius died in 1850.

Unfortunately those books, letters and almost all precious tokens of the past were destroyed either by a fire in 1895 or by flood in 1913.

Cornelius Elton[3] Millar married in Jackson County, Ohio, in 1822 Nancy James (born in 1790: died in 1837) daughter of John (born in Conn. June 14, 1772) and Nancy (Cook) James (born June 15, 1775).

They had three daughters and one son, all born in Pike County, Ohio:

1. Jane E.[4] Millar, born December 15, 1824.

4. CORNELIUS ELTON[4] MILLAR [Cornelius E.[3], William[2], William[1]]. The youngest of the family was born January 4, (his fathers birthday) 1833 and was but four years of age when his mother died.

He grew up with his cousins, the Nelson children, whose house was in the yard of his fathers large home and whose mother had also early left her young children.

At the death of his father, Cornelius and his three sisters each received one fourth of the old farm in Pike County, O. Julia bought Jane's part; Cornelius bought his sister Rebecca's share. Julia had that part where the home stood which their father had built and in which they lived and the younger ones were born. When she died the place was mortgaged for ten thousand dollars; she left half her estate to her adopted daughter Emma Gibson (living in Portsmouth, O. 1927) the other half to a niece of her husband. The price of land was very low at this time and the home place brought but fifteen thousand dollars.

*In 1858, March 7, Cornelius married Mary J. Chenowith in Piketon, Ohio, where she was born June 25, 1832, daughter of Absalom and Mary (Brown, born in London Co., Va. March 7, 1787) Chenowith. The father, one of three Chenowith brothers who came to Ohio in a very early day. Cornelius built upon his part of the land when he married, a small house and there their six children were born. For eight years, to obtain better school advantages, they lived in Portsmouth. The small house burned September 5, 1904 and the present commodious home was built nearer Wakefield, Ohio, here Cornelius died on January 12, 1909 and his wife on December 19, 1914.

He was in training camp and discharged from Camp Sherman August 1919. Now a clerk in Lucasville, Ohio.

1. Robert Evan[7] Millar, born January 23, 1919.
2. William Thomas[7] Millar, born Oct. 2, 1920.

Chapter III.

Abigail Millar—Allen

Abigail Millar, the first daughter and second child of William and Catharine (du Bois) Millar was born in the ancestral home near Front Royal, Virginia February 24, 1747.

She married December 3, 1765 Col. Thomas Allen, son of Robert and Deborah (Montgomery) Allan born in Armagh, Ireland, August 30, 1734.

A history of the Lower Shenandoah Valley says: "Among the early settlers of Warren Co., Va. was Col. Thomas Allen, son of Robert Allan and Deborah Montgomery his wife; he served as soldier in the Revolution and for gallantry was presented by his State with a sword."

"He left an estate comprising over six thousand acres of land stretching for miles along the south fork of the Shenandoah river; a part of his family went to Kentucky soon after its settlement, where the descendants are numerous and prosperous."

The name was originally Allan as borne by Robert of Ireland, but with a few exceptions the Virginia descendants have followed the spelling used by Colonel Thomas Allen.

He was, with his brother-in-law Isaac[2] Millar an executor of the estate of his wife's father William[1] Millar, who had, several years before this time deeded large tracts of land to Colonel Allen, probably at the time of marriage to his daughter Abigail.

Colonel Allen died in Shenandoah Co., Va. July 15, 1822 and is buried in the Millar-Allen graveyard situated upon the home part of the old plantation, across the creek and within sight from Stone House; where also lies Abigail, his wife who died September 1, 1823.

Nine children were born to them—

1. Deborah Montgomery[3] Allen, born September 27, 1766.
2. William[3] Allen, born May 7, 1769.
3. Robert[3] Allen, born August 2, 1771: died April 23, 1788.
4. James[3] Allen, born December 14, 1773: died January 4, 1774.

5. Thomas[3] Allen, born December 27, 1774.
6. Rebecca[3] Allen, born June 14, 1777.
7. David Hume[3] Allen, born July 24, 1781.
8. Joseph[3] Allen, born February 23, 1784: died September 12, 1815.
9. Robert Millar[3] Allen, born January 16, 1790.

WILL OF THOMAS ALLEN

I, Thomas Allen of Shenandoah County, and State of Virginia, do hereby make my last will and testament in manner and form following—that is to say—

Imprimis—I give to my wife Abigail Allen, all the plantation on which I now live: also the lease and purchased of John Miles; and the house and lot in Front Royal I purchased of Wm. Raynolds, together with negroes, Davy and his wife Polly and their increase: and as much of my household furniture as she shall think sufficient for her and her family's use.

All the above property both real and personal I give unto her during life; and at her decease to go to my son Robert Allen in the manner hereinafter directed.

I also give to my wife all the Bank stock I purchased, viz. on the Bank of Richmond and two banks at Winchester, amounting to five thousand and five hundred dollars, during her life; and at her death to be equally divided between my grandchildren:—

It is my desire that the above Bank Stock should not be disposed of to any person not belonging to the family.

Item—I give and bequeath to my daughter Deborah Russell besides the lands and personal property she has already received, one hundred pounds in specie, at her death to be equally divided between her daughters, and to my three grandsons, Thomas, William and Robert Russell fifty pounds each, to be paid by my executors.

Item—I give and bequeath to the heirs of my deceased son William Allen, the lands I purchased of George Harding; the lands I purchased of John Harding; the lands I purchased of Lazarus Burkett; the lands I purchased of John Smith; together with the water Grist-Mill erected on the aforesaid tract purchased of George Harding and also the tract of land I purchased of William Russell Esq.; together with the land my deceased son purchased of different persons who requested me before his death to divide the above tracts between his two children, by a line running from a large rock in the run below the spring past the Mill dam; thence up a hollow to the Grant line. I also leave to my grandson Thomas M. Allen fifty pounds in specie, to be received when he arrives at the age of twenty-one years.

Item—I give to my son Thomas Allen the following tracts of land, viz: the tract I purchased of Daniel Hackney; the tract I purchased of William Jennings; the tract I purchased of Henry Harding, and the tract I purchased of William C. Williams and William Jennings, Jun., and one-half the tract I purchased of the Grantees which Zachariah McKay formerly owned; also one half the tract I purchased of the Grantees, where Thomas Johnston formerly lived; also one half the tract purchased of Jacob Millar; the remaining half of the three last mentioned tracts, I give to my son Robert Allen.

I also give to my son Thomas Allen one negro man named Samuel and his wife, baby and a negro girl named Becky; also my sword, all which estate real and personal I give and devise to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item—I give to my son David Allen the following tracts of land, viz: all the plantation I purchased of William Keller; the land I purchased of Thomas G.

Martin; also the lot in Front Royal I purchased of John Wall; and all the money arising from the sale of a tract of land in Hampshire County, together with the rents due on said farm, since I purchased of Cornelius Ferree. I also give to my son David Allen one negro man named Somerset and my share in the Front Royal Librarian Society.

I also give to my three grandsons Algernon S. Allen, Thomas G. Allen and Wm. T. Allen, fifty pounds each in specie, to be paid by my executors to my son David Allen in trust for his three sons. All which estate real and personal I give and devise to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item—I give to my son Robert Allen all the plantation and tract of land on which I now live, comprehending the several tracts I purchased of Carson and Russell, extending to the lot I purchased of John Miles & including that lot; also one half of the tract I purchased of the Grantees, which Zachariah McKay formerly owned; one half the tract I purchased of the Grantees where Thomas Johnston formerly lived; and one half the tract purchased of Jacob Millar. I also give to my son Robert Allen one other tract of land which I purchased of Cunningham lying on top of the Blue-ridge; and my negro man named Davy and his wife Polly and their increase; one negro man named George; one wagon and team; and all the stock, household furniture and farming utensils which my wife shall leave at her death. But none of the above property is to become my son Robert's (altho he may have attained the age of twnty one years) so long as my wife Abigail is living; but is to remain in the hands of my wife as aforesaid during her life. After which the whole is to become the property of my son Robert. All which estate real and personal, I give and devise to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item—I give to my Grandson Phillip D. Williamson the following tracts of land, viz: the tract I purchased of George Harding lying between the land which Thomas Breck purchased of Mason Jones and Ramy's land, and the land included in the deed made to me by Simon Carson up Cave-run lying between Ramy's Northcraft's and Williams' land, also the lot I purchased of George Pierce, situated on the road leading to Chester's Gap.—Besides the above mentioned tracts, I give to my grandson Philip D. Williamson, part of the property which has been received by my sec'd daughter Rebecca Williamson, viz: a negro woman named Fanny; one large silver soup-spoon, marked with the initials of my name; also fifty pounds in specie, to be paid by my executors after my decease. All which estate real and personal, I give and devise to him and his heirs and assigns forever, except as in hereinafter exempted, should my grandson Phillip D. Williamson die, leaving no issue lawfully begotten; then and in that case it is my will and desire that all the estate both real and personal bequeathed to him, shall be equally divided and distributed among the children of my daughter Deborah Russell.

I do also direct that after my wife's decease, all and every part of my estate that shall then be remaining and heretofore particularly bequeathed, be equally divided among all my children that are then living.

Lastly—I do appoint my sons Thomas and David Allen and my nephew Isaac Millar executors of this my last will and testament; and I do hereby revoke and disannul all former and other wills by me heretofore made, declaring this only to be my last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal, this twenty-sixth day of September, one thousand, eight hundred and fifteen.

THOMAS ALLEN [SEAL]

Signed, sealed and published by the Testator, as his last will and testament in the presence of

Mordacai Cloud

It is my desire that my executors at my decease, give unto each of the slaves mentioned hereafter one silver dollar, viz: my daughter Deborah's Cate; my son William's (now in the hands of his two children Thomas M. Allen and Anne Russell) and all that belongs to my son Thomas, and son David's Somerset, and son Robert's and all that belongs to myself.—And to my old man Dave two dollars. Given under my hand this 30th day of August, 1817—my birthday. I was born the 30th August, 1734.

——CODICIL——

I, Thomas Allen Sen. of Shenandoah County, in order to remove any doubts or difficulties which might possibly arise in the construction of my foregoing last will and testament, in consequence of the death of my son Robert M. Allen do make, publish and declare this codicil to my said last will and testament in manner and form following—that is to say: It is my will and desire and I do hereby order and direct that my daughter-in-law Rebecca Allen, widow of my deceased son Robert M. Allen shall have and possess during her life one third part of the property and estate real and personal which I have devised and bequeathed in my said foregoing last will and testament to my said son Robert M. Allen.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 13th day of September, 1819.

THOMAS ALLEN [SEAL]

Signed, sealed and published and declared as a codicil to his last will and testament, in the presence of us who have signed the same as witnesses in the presence of and by the request of the testator.

1. DEBORAH MONTGOMERY[3] ALLEN [Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in Warren Co., Va. September 27, 1766 and died June 11, 1842.

She married May 29, 1787 General Robert Spotswood Russell (born March 28, 1762 in Culpepper Co., Va.: died January 16, 1842) son of General William and Tabitha (Adams) Russell.

"To William Russell on October 27, 1732 was granted 20,000 acres in and about the forks of the Shenandoah, near Front Royal and Riverton in lieu of what he had claimed from the Van Meter grants" (Virginia Magazine Vol. XIII. No. 3, pp. 288-9).

*"Robert Russell with his elder brother William assumed charge of the family of motherless children when their father took command of the troops of Western Virginia—soon after they went also into the field, volunteering under Col. William Campbell.

His Indian campaigns were many and dangerous; he spent his youth in active military service and in consequence of hardships endured and difficulties surmounted he was well fitted to set out as a pioneer to the wilderness and plant his home in Kenutcky.

For several years after the Revolutionary War he surveyed and entered lands in Kentucky and Tennessee. While on a visit with relatives in Culpepper and Shenandoah he made the acquaintance of the family of Col. Thomas Allen and on the 29th of May 1787 was united in marriage with Deborah Montgomery Allen, the oldest daughter.

In 1793 he built the home in Kentucky upon a sightly elevation and called it Poplar Hill, so closely was it wooded with poplar groves. A fine spring at the foot of the hill with its basin in solid rock was highly prized and is the same today as then.

The family of ten children were reared at Poplar Hill, now owned by Mr. Hart Boswell who has modernized it for his own use."

Their children were:

1. Abigail Millar[4] Russell, born June 22, 1788.
2. Tabitha Adams[4] Russell, born June 16, 1790.
3. Elizabeth Van Meter[4] Russell, Born May 7, 1792.
4. Thomas Allen[4] Russell, born February 5, 1794.
5. Catharine Branson[4] Russell, born April 5, 1795: died April 9, 1798.
6. Rebecca Williamson[4] Russell, born May 16, 1798.
7. Deborah Montgomery[4] Russell, born June 17, 1800.
8. William Henry[4] Russell, born October 9, 1802.
9. Mary Anne Bowen[4] Russell, born September 25, 1805.
10. Robert Spotswood[4] Russell, born October 27, 1807.
11. Miriam Malvina[4] Russell, born March 20, 1810.

While there he wrote the following letter to his cousin John William[3] Millar each nineteen and preparing for Princeton University in different schools.

"Fayette County,

Very Worthy Sir:

I received your letter last night and am certainly obliged to you for your kindness and the more so, as you are the first of my relations who has condescended so low as to write to me.

You cannot imagine the great pleasure and satisfaction it gives at so great a distance from his relations, to receive a letter from an old acquaintance. Cousin Joseph is in a great hurry and I have but a few minutes to write you. I have seen a great many things that I would wish to communicate to you, but as time is so short, I will reserve them, till I have the pleasure of seeing you again. You tell me you are about having a great exhibition. I should be very glad to take a part among you, as it is a diversion I was always fond of, but as it is out of my power, I can only wish you success. We hold a court at Mr. Breckinridge's every two weeks, when the students argue causes and Mr. Breckinridge sits as Judge, we sometimes have a great many spectators and gain considerable applause. I have grown very much since I saw you and am remarkably fat. Give my respects to Cousin Isaac, and Abraham, and the rest of the Family. Tell them to write to me lest I should be angry with them.

Tell Aunt, that Mr. Russell has received the eight dollars, sent by Mr. Millar and will look after her business; if that will not defray the taxes of her land he will make up the balance out of his own pocket, and bring the receipt with him in the spring when we all intend to come in—

I remain with utmost esteem Your affectionate Cousin,

Bad Paper, Pen no better written in haste: excuse my letter.

DAVID ALLEN.
Nov. 16, 1800.

David H. Allen graduated from Princeton University in 1804 or 5 and practiced law for several years in Woodstock, Va. He married September 22, 1808 Sarah Griffin Taylor, daughter of Col. Griffin Taylor, an officer of the War of 1812; and a granddaughter of Anna Maitland of Scotland of the Lords Lauderdale Maitlands.

"In 1833 Mr. Allen built his beautiful home, Clifton, near Gaylord in Clarke Co., Va. at a cost of fifteen thousand dollars and slave labor, on a fine farm once a part of the original Millar Plantation."

He was a man of fine presence and bearing, a fit setting for a lofty spirit and trained mind. Many proud and happy memories of him are treasured by his descendants—one, as host to President Tyler when a certain set of green and gold bordered china, then but recently imported from France, was used for the first time. This set and many other household treasures gathered with the taste and affluence of the historic southern families, embellished the home and were carefully guarded there until the last of his children had passed away.

The home itself, the writer is told, was acquired by purchase and is now in possession of a grandson Dr. Lewis Mines Allen, by whom it has been wholly restored and equipped with all modern conveniences.

"Mr. Allen died in 1854 leaving an estate valued at one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars to be divided among seven children then living; perhaps one half the estate was in negroes."

Another letter sent the writer, was addressed to his nephew Thomas Allen[4] Russell announcing the death of Col. Thomas Allen, the father of David H. Allen.

Clifton, 28 July, 1822.

Dear Sir

On the 15th inst, a messenger was sent to inform me that a considerable change had taken place in my fathers health and that it was expected he would not survive many days. I arrived at his house early the next day and found that he was no more. He departed this life the preceeding night (the 15th) about 11 o'clock. There remains to his afflicted family all the consolation that the bereavement of death can ever admit—that he had lived to the extreme verge of natures limits without sickness or pain and at length died so easily that it seemed going into a deep sleep after a long day of toil and weariness. For the last two or three years I have visited my father every two or three months and have found him gradually declining—but so slowly that those who were constantly with him did not perceive any change. He invariably ate heartily and slept a great portion of his time. His memory had entirely failed as to every thing but events that had long since passed away and particularly those of his early youth.

* * * * * * * * *

My mother is deeply afflicted. I remained a week with her * * * * * She has the most anxious and doting attachment for her two little grand children (my brother Robert's children) and will scarcely suffer them for a moment out of her sight.

* * * * * * I regret to inform you that my brother Thomas is also in a very infirm state of health * * * * * * I have little hope that his life will be continued many years—I fear very few. He has a fine healthy family of children and a wife beyond all praise * * * * * * * * My family continues to enjoy most excellent and uninterrupted health and join with me in affectionate regards to yourself and all our relations.

Yours Truly, D. H. Allen.

Eight children were born to David H.[3] and Sarah (Taylor) Allen—

1. ALGERNON SIDNEY[4] ALLEN, born in 1810: died in 1879.
2. THOMAS GRIFFIN[4] ALLEN, born in 1812: died in 1890.
3. WILLIAM TEMPLE[4] ALLEN, born in 1817: died in 1903.
4. ARTHUR MONTGOMERY[4] ALLEN, born in 1819: died in 1892.
5. MARY CATHARINE[4] ALLEN, born in 1821: died in 1908.
6. FRANCES THORNTON[4] ALLEN, born in 1823: died in 1909.
7. EDGAR[4] ALLEN, born in 1825: died in 1904.
8. LUCY ELLEN[4] ALLEN, born in 1831: died in 1908.

1. ALGERNON SIDNEY[4] ALLEN [David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born March 18, 1810 and died at his home "Glen Allen" in 1879.

He had married February 5, 1833 in Baltimore, Anne Boyd Owen, daughter of Kennedy and Agnes (Riddell) Owen. "Agnes Riddell was the grand daughter of Polly Hawksworth, the little girl who with her father came from England and in a journey from Baltimore to Philadelphia stayed the first night out with a gentleman's family who persuaded the father to leave with them his little daughter, which he did and was never again heard from—doubtless overcome by the perils of travel in those pioneer days."

Mrs. Allen died at Glen Allen, Clarke Co., Va. May 30, 1858.

Three children were born to them—

1. ROBERT OWEN[5] ALLEN [Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in Clarke Co., Va., November 23, 1833. He was Lieut. in Co. I, 2nd Regt. Stone Wall Brigade. He was brave and genial, a prosperous farmer upon land of his inheritance.

He married first in Frederick City, December 13, 1866 Edith Howard; Rev. John Gill officiating. His wife was the daughter of James and Maria (Suter) Howard of Georgetown, D. C.; her father was English and related to the House of Howard of Corby Castle, a painting of which, owned by Mr. Howard, Mr. Allen's family now own.

Edith (Howard) Allen died at "Westwood" W. Va. April 22, 1876.

Mr. Allen married second April 2, 1884 Millicent Tidball[5] Allen (Arthur M.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar) (born March 15, 1855: died April 2, 1884.)

I. ALGERNON SIDNEY[6] ALLEN, born at "Glen Allen", October 6, 1867..

II. ANNE OWEN[6] ALLEN, born at "Glen Allen" November 20, 1868: died there July 13, 1869.

III. HENRY HOWARD[6] ALLEN, born at "Glen Allen" March 11, 1870: died at "Westwood" Jefferson Co., W. Va. July 22, 1893. He was a Military Engineer having graduated with high honors from V. M. I.

IV. Maria Douglas[6] Allen [Robert Owen[5], Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born at "Westwood", W. Va., May 31, 1871; married first December 1892 Harry Morris, and second Laurence Latrobe.

1. Allen[7] Morris, born October 16, 1898.

V. Robert Owen[6] Allen, Jr., born October 1872: died in infancy.

VI. Lewis Mines[6] Allen, born August 11, 1874. Physician in Winchester, Va. and present owner of "Clifton" in Clarke County.

VII. Edith Morton[6] Allen [Robert Owen[5], Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born April 12, 1876; married on November 2, 1899 H. H. McCormick, an attorney of Charles Town, W. Va.

1. H. H.[7] McCormick, born April 16, 1906.
2. Owen Allen[7] McCormick.
3. Edith Howard[7] McCormick, born February 1917.

VIII. Arthur Holmes[6] Allen [Robert Owen[5], Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born at "Westwood" Nov. 1, 1885.

IX. David Hume[6] Allen [Robert Owen[5], Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar].

2. David Hume[5] Allen [Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born at Glen Allen, Clarke Co., February 23, 1837. A Lieutenant in the Clarke Cavalry wounded in the first Battle of Manassas and died from the wound at Warrenton, Va. August 19, 1861.

3. Algernon Sidney[5] Allen [Algernon S.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born at Elmington, Clarke Co., February 9, 1841; was wounded at the Battle of Chancellorsville and died at the Officers Hospital at Richmond May 1863, one day after Gen'l. Jackson's death. He was Lieut. in Co. I. 2nd Regiment, Stonewall Brigade.

2. THOMAS GRIFFIN[4] ALLEN [David Hume[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born May 1, 1812 and died at his home "Morven", Warren Co., Va. July 8, 1890. He married in 1849 Mary A. Hopper (born in Washington Rappahanock Co., Aug. 1823: died at Morven February 1892) daughter of Capt. John and Elizabeth Barbour (Timberlake) Hopper. Capt. John Hopper was the son of John Hopper, an Englishman who came to Virginia in an early day. Elizabeth Barbour Timberlake was the daughter of William Timberlake and Esther Shearman, his wife, whose mother was Anne Chinn, a daughter of Esther Ball, (sister of Mary, the mother of George Washington) and Ranleigh Chinn.

Seven children were born to this couple—

1. MAITLAND[5] ALLEN [Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born at "Morven" November 18, 1850; went when a little child to live at Clifton and in later years as the companion of his two aged Aunts, he operated the Plantation left in his charge during their lifetime by his Uncle Edgar[4] Allen.

   After the death of his Aunts and the sale of Clifton he returned to Morven with his sister Mrs. Virginia Mussaeus. "He was a man of high character, very intelligent and well read, of most pleasing personality." When suddenly he died in a hospital in Staunton where he was even then planning to return home within a few days, all his kindred mourned for a dearly loved and loyal friend whose counterpart is seldom found. The date of his death was April 28, 1922.
2. VIRGINIA[5] ALLEN [Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born at Morven in 1852, was brought up at Clifton; was married June 14, 1881 to Frederick G. Mussaeus (born Sept. 27, 1850) of Mecklenburg, and a son of Theodore Mussaeus, a distinguished lawyer of Wismar, Germany.

Mr. Mussaeus was educated for the law but chose rather the teaching of Modern languages. He died in Washington, D. C., January 3, 1890.

Mrs. Mussaeus divides her time between New York City with her two daughters and her country home "Morven" where they all love to gather in the summer.

I. Marie G.[6] Mussaeus [Virginia[5], Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in 1882. Was sent to Germany when but eight or nine years old remained there at school for six years; afterwards graduating at Smith College in this country. Again studied in Paris to perfect her French, and in Spain and Italy for their languages. In February 1925 she married Preston Staley, an attorney in New York City, where they reside.

II. Theodore Maitland[6] Mussaeus [Virginia[5], Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in 1884. A civil engineer.

2. Laura Allen[7] Campbell, born February 18, 1924.
3. Edward Fielding[7] Campbell, born June 15, 1925.
4. Wilson[7] Campbell, born April 7, 1927.

IV. David Allen[6] Fielding [Laura[5], Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in 1900. A farmer in Bealton, Va. Married August 16, 1927 Audrey Jenkins, daughter of Holtzman and Catharine (Dodson) Jenkins.

6. Julian C.[5] Allen [Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in 1862 at "Morven" which has since been his home.

7. Carlos Butterfield[5] Allen [Thomas G.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in 1865 at "Morven."

3. William Temple[4] Allen [David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in Clarke Co., Va. September 13, 1817; graduated from Princeton University in 1839. "A man of unusual talent and intellect coupled with and handicapped by a most modest and retiring disposition; he wrote fluently both prose and poetry; and without ever having taken a lesson, drew and painted birds and flowers with rare truth and fidelity to nature.

His home was "Balclutha" in Clarke Co., Va. where all his children were born and where he died December 16, 1903."

"At twenty he graduated and shortly thereafter made a voyage to the Pacific as secretary to the Commodore of the squadron in those waters. On returning he became a farmer on part of the Clifton estate where he made a study of ornithology.

He has left more than one hundred and fifty *paintings and descriptions of birds.

The war of 1861-5 with consequent loss of property and the harrowing times of reconstruction, put an end to his study and his wish to complete a work upon The Birds of Virginia."

William Temple[4] Allen married on June 6, 1849 Mary Elizabeth Bayley of Grafton, Fauquier Co., who survived her husband in the home of their daughter Mrs. Bushrod C. Washington of Brookland, D. C.

*Visitors to the Exposition at St. Louis in 1903 may remember this beautiful collection displayed on the walls of the Virginia Building.

Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born September 20, 1867: died March 9, 1870.

5. Mary Alexander[5] Allen [Arthur M.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born October 19, 1869: died in childhood.

6. Arthur Montgomery[5] Allen [Arthur M.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born October 16, 1874: died February 15, 1900.

5. Mary Catharine[4] Allen [David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born December 20, 1821 at Clifton where in 1852 she was married to Gen. Carlos Butterfield and where after his death she spent her declining years and bore much of charm, evidencing the opportunities of wealth, education and travel which life had so abundantly afforded her.

Extracts from a pamphlet published by his friend William Henry Shaw of New York testify to and describe the high character and achievements of Gen. Butterfield—

"He was born in the State of New York in 1817, was early graduated as Military and Civil Engineer, and joined a corps of that profession which was leaving for the island of Cuba for the construction of railroads, etc.

He served three years as captain of the Engineer Corps of the Spanish Government when he was induced to go to Mexico and join the staff of General Santa Anna, then President of that Republic; where he served until the breaking out of war between that country and the United States.

Considering it dishonorable to take up arms against the country of his nativity he resigned his Military position and was appointed after the capitulation of the Mexican Army in Vera Cruz 'Administrator General' of that State.

After the close of his municipal administration which left him pecuniarily five thousand dollars worse off, and after receiving a vote of thanks and a handsome gold snuff box, he returned to the City of Mexico. * * * * *

If Mexico enjoys today a free and independent government she owes it to some extent to General Butterfield. There has been no administration in that country since 1845 that has not been more or less indebted to him for services rendered in some way.

In an autograph letter in 1853 from General Santa Anna, he mentions Gen'l Butterfield's friendship to the Mexicans and his ability and faithfulness to every position of trust and further commissions him to proceed to Washington and lay before the Senate and Government of the U. S. the treaty made between the ministers of State of the two governments.

By his urgent presentation of the treaty, Mexico received ten millions of dollars and the United States the Mesilla Valley—changing thereby the boundary line between the two Republics. * * * * *

By the expenditure of private fortune, in carrying out his cherished hopes for international prosperity, by an untiring devotion of time and strength, General Butterfield showed himself a true laborer for the public good in the broad fields where his mind and master spirit chose to operate.

His death occurred at Washington, D. C. on the 14 of February, 1880."

Mrs. Butterfield died at Clifton April 17, 1908.

6. FRANCES THORNTON[4] ALLEN [David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born Dec. 6, 1823. "Endowed with beauty and grace of person and charm of manner which she carried far into her old age; as a girl she visited often in Washington where she saw much of official life and came in touch with many distinguished people; she was a great pet of President Tyler and was his guest on board the "Princeton" at the time of the terrible disaster following the explosion of the "Peacemaker" when so many distinguished lives were lost. She was married on February 22, 1850 at "Clifton" to Thomas Montague Isbell, of Cumberland Co., Va., son of Col. James Daniel and Mary (daughter of Thomas) (Montague) Isbell. He was a man of marked intellectuality, fine literary attainments and unusual oratorical ability; he was educated at Randolph-Macon College and the University of Virginia; he took the law as a profession but soon entered politics, serving his district in the Senate until the beginning of the Civil War. Just prior to the war he had purchased land in Jefferson Co. near Charlestown where he built a beautiful home called 'Wortley' that being a favorite name in the Montague family.

He died at this home February 24, 1881 aged sixty-four years; his wife retained much of her youthful activity until within a few years of her death which occurred in their home attended by the loving ministrations of her two daughters, on May 28, 1909."

Three children were born to them—

1. ADA[5] ISBELL [Frances T.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1], Millar], born at Clifton in 1851; married April 24, 1883 Armistead Selden Lippitt, son of Rev. Edward Russell

Lippitt (Prof, in Theological Seminary at Alexandria) and Mary F. (Alexander) Lippitt.

Mr. Lippitt was at first engaged in merchantile business but later turned agriculturist until his death in December 20, 1925. Since then his widow has with their son and daughter lived in Washington, D. C.

I. Frances Fontaine[6] Lippitt, born March 2, 1884: died May 15, 1887.

II. Laura Alexander[6] Lippitt, born January 1886: died in infancy.

III. Montague Isbell[6] Lippitt, born May 5, 1888; graduated from the Civil Engineering Dept. of Washington and Lee University in 1908: in World War 1st Lieut. in 52nd Engineer Corps, over seas two years. Now Asst. Engineer for the Southern R. R. in their Washington office.

IV. Mary Armistead[6] Lippitt, born October 10, 1890; graduated from the Episcopal Institute at Winchester, Va.; then private teacher in Berkeley Springs. Now connected with the Federal Post Office in Washington, D. C.

2. Mary Montague[5] Isbell [Frances T.[4], David Hume[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar] born at Wortley where with her invalid brother and her sister's family was lived out and perpetuated the best of all one knows of Southern home life and hospitality.

Early in the spring of 1920 Miss Isbell went for treatment and rest to the hospital in Winchester and there on March 28, a bright Sunday morning she suddenly and unexpectedly passed away.

3. Allen Montague[5] Isbell [Frances T.[4], David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born March 18, 1858. Unmarried and an invalid for many years.

7. Edgar[4] Allen [David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born November 14, 1825 at "Clifton".

"A fine example of ones idea of a gentleman of the old school, in youth unusually good looking and upwards of six feet tall, well proportioned and although handicapped from early manhood by ill health, he never lost an air of distinction.

Save for a trip south in winter and to the Virginia Springs in summer his life was spent quietly at Clifton supervising that fine estate.

He liked to have his friends about him and as a host was charmingly cordial. By his attractive personality, his kindness of heart and his upright, honorable dealings with his neighbors, he was sincerely liked and admired by those associated with him through years of familiar intercourse and by kindred, loved and mourned."

Mr. Allen died at Clifton in 1904 unmarried, leaving the management of the estate to his nephew Maitland Allen, until, in the event of his two sisters death, it should be sold.

8. LUCY ELLEN[4] ALLEN [David H.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar] born in 1831 at Clifton, the youngest of eight children born to David Hume and Sara Griffin (Taylor) Allen:

"Reared in an atmosphere of cultivation and refinement which left its impress till the end of her long life; modest and retiring to a marked degree, few knew in her earlier years the riches of her well stored mind. She was a great reader and had a fine memory hence in her mature years a most agreeable conversationalist. She was fond of nature and an accomplished horsewoman. She had a great aptitude for making and holding friends, and as hostess at Clifton for thirty years was widely known for her courtesy and gracious hospitality."

The guest of a day, though more distant of kin than she who kindly sent the foregoing tribute, would add a word of sincere appreciation for the opportunity of having a bright glimpse into the life and home of so choice a spirit.

Miss Allen died at the home where she was born and so devotedly loved on Wednesday, February 19, 1908 and lies buried in Green Hill Cemetery at Berryville, Va.

9. Robert Millar[3] Allen [Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], the youngest child of Col. Thomas and Abigail (Millar) Allen was born in their home near Front Royal, January 16, 1790 and became one of the most prominent and influential men of his time in that locality, he was also a man of taste and means.

He built upon a sightly elevation about a mile southwest of Front Royal and called his home "Druid Hill" here he died while yet a young man on May 14, 1819.

His home was the last place to be visited by his mother only a year before her death, being over persuaded to the change for a short time by her son David H.[3] Allen who realized that her extreme fondness for his brother Robert's two little children would well serve to divert her mind from the sorrow of her husbands recent death.

Druid Hill was until her death in 1908 the home of a grand daughter Mrs. Mary Roberta (Gardner) Macatee and has since been sold to General Granger Adams.

Robert Millar[3] Allen married April 4, 1816 Rebecca[3] Branson (Rebecca[2], William[1] Millar (born December 14, 1793: died January 14, 1853).

Two children were born to them—

1. Sarah Catharine[4] Allen, born June 3, 1817: died April 12, 1858.
2. Robert Millar[4] Allen, born November 14, 1819: died December 7, 1853.

Sarah Catharine[4] Allen [Robert M.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born June 3, 1817 in Front Royal, Va., and died April 12, 1858; was married November 29, 1838 to Samuel Buck Gardner, a farmer and grazier (born in Greenfield, Warren Co., Va. Nov. 29, 1813: died at Elkton, Va. July 29, 1882).

Five children were born—

1. Robert Allen[5] Gardner, born July 23, 1842: died June 17, 1884.
2. Ann Chunn[5] Gardner, born September 14, 1846: died May 10, 1861.
3. Samuel Dent[5] Gardner, born January 28, 1849: died April 12, 1867.

4. Mary Roberta[5] Gardner [Sarah C.[4], Robert M.[3], Abigail[2] William[1] Millar], born September 7, 1851: died December 3, 1908. A woman of much charm of person and manner; was married October 1, 1872 to Samuel E. Macatee, son of Ignatius and Margaret (Johnston) Macatee of Hereford County, Md.

I. Mary Roberta Gardner[6] Macatee, born January 17, 1875; married October 23, 1907 John Byrne Earle of Millsdale, Warren County, Va.

1. Alexander Millar[7] Earle, born July 22, 1908.

II. Margaret Johnston[6] Macatee [Mary R.[5], Sarah C.[4], Robert M.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born October 25, 1880.

III. Sarah Rebecca[6] Macatee [Mary R.[5], Sarah[4], Robert M.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born November 1, 1882.

5. Rebecca Branson Allen[5] Gardner [Sarah C.[4], Robert M.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born January 8, 1854, a capable woman of forceful mind and kindly spirit; was married on June 23, 1880 to Nelson Samuel Waller, a typical Southern gentleman in mind and manner, following the pursuit of Virginia land owners, farming and grazing. He was born at "Wildwood" Spottsylvania Co., Va. May 16, 1850, the son of Dr. Nelson Samuel and Mary Hampton (Dejarnette) Waller.

I. Samuel Gardner[6] Waller, born at "Druid Hill" March 26, 1881. An attorney in Front Royal, Va. Married first on October 3, 1907 Florence Virginia[6] Millar (Samuel R,[5], Samuel R.[4], Isaac[3], William[2], William[1] Millar); married second June 17, 1919 Annie Louise Ford. No children.

pointed Major in Adj. Gen.s' Dept.. Va. Nat. Guards, promoted Brig. Gen. July 1922.

II. Robert Allen[6] Waller, born at "Mountain Home" near Front Royal, November 23, 1883 and died July 7, 1886.

III. Mary Roberta[6] Waller, born also at "Mountain Home" October 1, 1886; married October 23, 1907 Hon. William Addison Knowles of Rome, Ga.; returned ten years ago to Mountain Home. No children.

2. Robert Millar[4] Allen [Robert M.[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar], born in Front Royal, Va., November 14, 1819; married Mary E.[5] Allen, daughter of Thomas[4] Millar and Rebecca W.[4] (Russell) Allen (Deborah[3], Abigail[2], William[1] Millar), born March 4, 1827: died 1870).

"Mr. Allen died of consumption at the home of his father-in-law Elder Thomas Millar[4] Allen in Boone Co., Mo., December 7, 1853 leaving no descendants.

This notation shpuld be inserted before p. 197 in Eva Miller Nourse's MILLAR - DuBOIS FAMILY to call attention to the error in the information which she quotes from Rev. C.S.M. See.

The last few lines on p. 197 states that Elizabeth See married Isaac Millar on Oct. 28, 1777, and, that she was the daughter of Adam See.

At the top of p. 198, it states that Adam was one of two sons of George See who came over from Holland in 1760, and, that Adam was born in 1764, which would have been eight years after Elizabeth was born. Adam would have been only thirteen years old when his daughter married Isaac Millar.

Obviously there is an error here. Please refer to a letter dated Nov. 18, 1978 from Glenna See Hill who has done extensive research on the See family. Mrs. Hill's qualifications which I have in another letter make me believe that her findings are accurate.

Chapter IV.

Isaac Millar

Isaac, the second son and third child of William and Catharine (du Bois) Millar, was born February 9, 1751 on the Millar Plantation in Dunmore, now Warren Co., Virginia.

As seemed the custom in early days, he being the second son, was named for his mother's father, Isaac du Bois.

By his father's will, made in 1776, Isaac received four hundred and thirty-three (433) acres of land lying in Hampshire Co. on the South Branch, which land in that instrument is stated, was received by grant from the Crown. "Lot 4 was granted by Lord Fairfax to William Millar June 15, 1749."

Kercheval, an early day historian says, "Seeing in Winchester a drove of fine Hogs, Lord Fairfax being told they came from west of the mountains, said, 'that county should be called Hampshire, for a county in England, celebrated for its fine hogs'."

To Isaac Millar and one Gough of Baltimore is credited by the Breeders Gazette of Chicago, the first importation of Short Horn cattle from England, and further says: "The historic Valley of the South Branch was well adapted to the requirements of live stock husbandry."

The first shipment was in 1783 and some two years later a second shipment was made.

Three entries show blooded animals to have been bought of Isaac Millar.

"Pluto" he sold to Daniel Harrow and others in 1803.

In 1810 "Inskeeps Buzzard" came from same herd.

"Shaker" was bought also in 1811.

Isaac probably took possession of his inheritance very soon after his marriage to Elizabeth See, this occurred on October 28, 1777 in Hampshire Co. where she was born August 14, 1756, *the daughter of Adam and Catharine

*This fact was given by a kinsman, three of whose great grandmothers were Elizabeth; Christiana and Catharine See, i. e. Mrs. Isaac Millar and her two sisters: all daughters of Adam and Catharine (Harness) See.

(Harness) See.

Rev, C. S. M. See of Phillippi, W. Va. who died 1903, stated: "In 1760 came with a party from Holland, one George See; all settled on South Branch—he at Moorefield, had 2 sons Michael and Adam, latter born 1764—lawyer in Hardy and Pendleton Counties. Michael's administrator was appointed in Kanawha County, 1794."

Isaac Millar had a commission from Lord Dunmore in 1774 as State Surveyor:

From "Hennings Statutes at Large", Vol. 13, p. 9—Dec. 4, 1789.

Isaac Millar, et al gentlemen, lay off Romney. P. 159;

Isaac Millar, et al gentleman, lay off addition to Charlottesville, Albemarle Co., Nov. 30, 1790. Vol. 16, p. 60.

Isaac Millar, et al gentlemen to establish a cemetery at Charlottesville July 12, 1893.

Isaac Millar, et al gentlemen to take subscriptions to clear and improve town of Rivanna on North fork of James River.

He was one of the Justices of Hampshire Co. in 1788 and for several years before his death President of the Court; twice declined the office of Sheriff.

That Patriotism, highest of civic virtues was not lacking in the founder of this branch of the family is proved by the appearance of Isaac Millar's name, as private, in the Pennsylvania Depreciation Lists. These lists consist of soldiers who having been promised a certain rate of pay voluntarily gave their receipts in full for much less—constituting a most indisputable proof of service in our Colonial Wars.

Reference: Vol. 4. Pennsylvania Archives; Fifth Series, page 298—"Isaac Miller, Private, Cumberland Co. Militia; Depreciation Pay."

The home which Isaac Millar built still stands, facing the river on the road from Romney to "The Trough" where a direct descendant has built his home on part of the old land.

From its north gallery, stretches of rich river bottom land meet the eye while the mountains on guard near by were gay with Laurel and Red Bud when in April of 1906 it was the writers pleasure to pass that way in horse-drawn carriage before the railroad extended beyond Romney. A later journey through this county by rail, gave a fleeting glimpse of "The Trough" which Washington in his Diary, April 8, 1748, page 329 thus describes:

"Ye Trough is a couple of ledges of Mountains impassable, running side by side together for eight miles and ye river down between them, ye must ride round ye back of ye mountain for to get below them."

In this mountain-side home were born to Isaac and Elizabeth (See) Millar their seven children.

These births and the deaths of Isaac and Elizabeth—hers on April 14, 1794; his on January 23, 1816—were taken directly from the old Bible which soon afterward went to Florida with Michael Adam[5] Millar and is now in his possession in Venus, Florida.

1. William[3] Millar, born August 6, 1778 "at Sundown".
2. Catharine[3] Millar, born February 19, 1780.
3. Rebekah[3] Millar, born February 3, 1783.
4. Michael[3] Millar, born March 30, 1785 "at dawn Wednesday."
5. Isaac[3] Millar, born December 6, 1787.
6. Elizabeth[3] Millar, born February 4, 1790.
7. Adam[3] Millar, born March 28, 1792.

1. William[3] Millar [Isaac[2], William[1]], born in Hampshire Co., W. Va., August 6, 1778: died in Circleville, Ohio, July 4, 1863; married June 7, 1808 Mary Suddeth (born July 6, 1783: died Sept. 19, 1860).

From History of Madison, Fayette and Pickaway Counties, Ohio—by Chapman Bros.

"William Millar came from the Old Dominion to Ohio in 1799 and settled near the junction of the Scioto River and Walnut Creek, he entered 701 acres which has remained in the family ever since.

At the General Land Sale in Chilocothe in 1802 he bought section 23 and 22 and since added another 40 acres, making one of the largest landed estates in Ohio."

Four children were born but through only one are left descendants.

2. WILLIAM[5] MILLAR [Sarah Ann[4], William[3], Isaac[2], William[1]], born April 28, 1847. Living near Ashville, Ohio. A prosperous land owner and retired farmer; greatly interested to meet the compiler of these records and hear about his kinfolk in West Virginia and those "over in Scioto" who up to that time were more myth than reality for although his parents were both Millars and their parents had come to Pickaway Co. not far from the time their cousins Abraham, John William and Cornelius had settled in Scioto and Pike counties, such were the conditions of travel, the difficulty of getting the mails, their own busy days with growing families, that it was not the easy matter to pay visits even fairly near by that it is in our motor driven pilgrimages of many more miles.

Mr. Millar's home "Bunker Hill Farm" commodious and hospitable, was in May the setting for his eightieth birthday celebration which found him happy, interested in everything and well.

Kendrick Farm, Nov. 6th, 1816.

Dear Sister

I take this opportunity of writing to you again to inform you that we are all well, hoping this may find you all enjoying the same blessing. I have nothing strange to write or very important more than I have got a very fine daughter the 21st of October and call her name Sarah Ann after the two old ladies. Sister Abby had a son born in Sept, and call him Thomas Newton her family was all well except herself and she is in a weak state of health. The sisters and brother are all well the last account.

Mother and father was to see me this week and they look as well and fat as they did ten years ago. Mother's cheeks look as rosey as any of her daughters. Sister Rebeccah sends her love to you all and says you must excuse her not writing * * * * * * * you must ask Newton for particulars not only about that but about everything else, please God he gets there.

Sister you must excuse my not writing before now for family life has engrossed my whole attention. O Sister, if I could see you to give you a detail of my life I think it would be a satisfaction to us both. I must conclude with saying answer this. Mr. Kendrick joins me in love to you all,

Lucinda Kendrick.

Ruby Sea[6] Millar [Lucian D.[5], Franklin[4], Rebekah[3] Isaac[2], William[1]], born January 26, 1892; married first in Oklahoma City, November 28, 1917 William Oswald Mager (died December 26, 1921). Served as Sergeant at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. She married second January 1923 H. H. Huggins in Los Angeles, Calif.; where they reside.

1. William O.[7] Mager, Jr., born November 1920.

V. Lucian Ray[6] Millar [Lucian D.[5], Franklin[4], Rebekah[3], Isaac[2], William[1]], born August 10, 1893; married August 1917 Kathryn Turner. Address Monroe, La.

1. Lucian Ray[7] Millar, Jr., born August 11, 1918.

3. John Ewell[5] Millar [Franklin[4], Rebekah[3], Isaac[2], William[1]], born February 4, 1864: died January 12, 1884.

4. MICHAEL[3] MILLAR [Isaac[2], William[1]], born in Hampshire County, W. Va., March 30, 1785 "at dawn, Wednesday" in his father's Bible so inscribed. He married February 28, 1809 Hannah Decker (born Jan. 23, 1790: died Aug. 9, 1860) the daughter of John and Hannah Decker and sister to both Mrs. Adam[3] and Mrs. Isaac[3] Millar.

"They moved to Ohio, lived there about two years then moved back to Virginia when he inherited his father's home and lands in Hampshire County. He often showed a grandchild who contributes this sketch, the little shoe cast by the horse his wife rode, when carrying in her arms the year old babe, she had traveled from Ohio to Virginia.

Michael came to own four farms in Hampshire County along the South Branch of the Potomac, extending for miles into the uplands, amounting to thirty thousand acres; he held his father's inheritance and increased it to the full possibility of his time and opportunity, but the misfortunes of war carried the most of it away from his children.

He was most energetic, would be up and miles away while others would be loitering over the breakfast table. His home was a refuge for the orphan, the homeless, and his great heart always throbbed for the helpless and the poor, no one ever applied to him without getting relief.

He was always gentle in reproving but his word was law and served to teach us truth and uprightness—to be kind to the unfortunate and to observe the Golden Rule.

He had a most retentive memory, could repeat almost anything from the Bible, the verse you wanted and tell you where to find it.

He seemed to know every foot of his hundreds of acres of land.

A Mrs. Keyser who lived near grandfather in Hampshire County said: Every evening when let loose from school, the one he had built from logs for the benefit of all the neighborhood children, we would troop into your grandfather's house and there in the dining room would be your grandmother and old darky Drusy, buttering bread and spreading it with apple butter or honey, seeing that each child should have enough; and this went on all the time, not for a day or a week but as long as a child went to school on the hill."

"When disagreement occurred among the relations, the dispute was settled by grandfather, ever gentle and kind, the secret of whose power over others was his innate goodness. Long before his death (he lived to be 87) he was a cripple from rheumatism but he was patient to the end which came like peaceful slumber on November 10, 1872.

He was a Presbyterian in religion, in politics a Whig.*"

MICHAEL[3] and HANNAH (DECKER) MILLAR were the parents of four children—

1. ELIZABETH[4] MILLAR. born December 11, 1809.
2. WILLIAM[4] MILLAR, born August 10, 1811.
3. SARAH[4] MILLAR, born August 28, 1813.

The following extract from a letter (now in possession of his nephew John Decker[5] Millar of Hampshire County, W. Va.) written by William[4], after his mother's death, to his father Michael[3] Millar, gives better than any description, his high moral standards, filial respect and facility of expression:

"You no doubt pass many lonely hours. I trust you will make the subject of religion one of daily and habitual meditation, and I humbly hope it may afford you peace and comfort in your declining years; it is surely the only thing that can support us amid the various ills and afflictions of life and more especially in the trying hour of death.

I have often since we last parted reproved myself for being so backward in not conversing more freely and affectionately on this subject." William[4] Millar moved to Coles Co., Ill. in 1853. Eleven children were born.

Every effort to obtain complete records of the descendants of Sarah[4] Millar Murphy have resulted in failure, those given, are however, brought to date.

4. JOHN DECKER[4] MILLAR, [Michael[3], Isaac[2], William[1]], the fourth child of Michael and Hannah (Decker) Millar, was born April 18, 1825, in Hampshire County, W. Va., upon the old plantation where his fore fathers and children's children have been born. He died November 24, 1904 and seems to have been the only one of his generation of the Millars who was satisfied to remain in the old place and paths; Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, lured many of them away.

He was married by Rev. William H. Foote, September 5, 1850 to Sarah Louisa Stump, (born September 1, 1829; died March 7, 1886), daughter of Adam and Mary G. (Parsons) Stump; Adam (born August 4, 1788), son of Leonard (born November 21, 1748) and Catharine (See) Stump, (born February 26, 1754; died April 23, 1827).

The Stump and Parsons families were early in the South Branch Valley and much intermarried in these records and elsewhere. To this marriage were born eight children.

Chapter V.

Rebekah Millar—Branson

"Tradition runs that three Branson brothers landed in New York from the borders of England and Wales, about two hundred years ago, one settling in New Jersey, one in Pennsylvania and the third on the border of Virginia and North Carolina.

Many of their descendants were members of the Society of Friends and some of them preachers.

In 1905 one of the best known was David Branson of North Carolina Yearly Meeting.

The Branson men, generally have been large of face and figure, often of powerful and commanding appearance, the women have been strong characters, of very good appearance, though not laying claim to beauty.

Nearly all the New Jersey branch are Quakers, but in each of the great wars in which the United States has been involved, a few lost their right of membership by reason of engaging therein.

Scriptural names predominated among the men, David seems to have been the favorite, with Amos, Thomas, Nathan frequently in evidence. Constant repetition of these names as of all the more substantial names used through the various generations, while always commanding admiration has worked confusion in the efforts of the compiler of records.

The original Bransons in this country were inclined to stock raising and mechanical pursuits, but were also frequently in their early lives in the ranks of teachers.

General David Branson of New York City said, "I have met fifty Bransons from all over the United States and found none discreditable and many splendid characters" and further relates, "In Trinity Church yard, New York City (the most valuable burying ground on earth) rests the remains of Capt. Ware Branson, who was buried November 1821, at the age of 68, and history states that he was a very good captain too.

His tombstone has been very carefully preserved by his descendants, who have placed a granite frame around it, and it is one of the most conspicuous objects in the yard, very near the Broadway side walk about seventy feet from the main entrance of the church.

The U. S. Naval records show that Ware Branson, Jr. was a sail maker in the U. S. Navy from 1857 to 1859. So it appears the combative spirit in the family was very frequently in conflict with the teachings of George Fox and William Penn.

These Ware Bransons were, I understand, from our New Jersey branch and drifted from the Society of Friends during the Revolutionary War.

Family traditions first place the ancestor of the Millar—du Bois Bransons in the Shenandoah Valley in Frederick County, Virginia. Their settlement in the Lost River Valley was doubtless when Lionel Branson married Rebekah Millar and settled upon the four hundred and twelve acres of land in Hampshire County lying along Lost River, which from her father William Millar she had inherited at his death in 1776.

Upon the same spot where lived Lionel and Rebekah (Millar) Branson, lived (1925) James Ward Wood their great grandson, but in a house built in 1848-49.

Both Lionel Branson and his son Jonathan held the office of Sheriff in Hardy County, Va., now Vest Virginia.

Lionel Branson was killed by a horse and is buried, as is also his wife Rebekah, in a family burying ground on Lost River.

In Frederick County, Virginia stands the old Hopewell Meeting House and in the yard lie many Branson kindred, in 1905 Mr. James Ward Wood visited it and describes the graves of each family as arranged in a row instead of a square and that 'it required one hundred and twenty feet of tape line to cover the Bransons.'

Each row began with the grave of a pioneer, next came his wife, next his brother and following that, his wife—these four were fully marked but the next dozen or so bore no mark, but Christian names and dates, presumably the children of the first four."

Mr. Franklin Branner[5] Chrisman owned that land upon which Lionel Branson built his second and permanent home on Lost River and for this record, copied from their tombstones the dates herein contained of all the early Branson kindred.

Mr. Chrisman also stated that Lionel and Rebekah[2] Branson cut the first wagon road across North Mountain when they came to settle in Hampshire County.

Rebekah[2] Millar, the second daughter and fourth child of William[1] and Catharine (du Bois) Millar was born in the family home, some times in the community then called "Stone House", near Front Royal, Virginia, February 19, 1753 and died in her own home in Hampshire County, W. Va., August 25, 1834.

She was married to Lionel Branson*, who was born February 17, 1753 and died March 21, 1810.

He was the son of "old Daniel McNeill," notable among early settlers in the South Branch Valley for his wealth and sagacity; his home "Willow Wall", which he built in 1820 is one of the finest in this section and one of only two which are owned by descendants of the original owner.

"Of its thirty-eight rooms, one parlor and the hall are just as completed over a hundred years ago; wood work carved in beautiful designs and the wall paper hand painted.

The grounds are surrounded by a stone wall overhung by willows, hence the name."

Augustus Renick McNeill, a grandson is the present owner and occupant (1927).

Six children were born to William and Rachael Branson McNeill, only two however attained maturity; Annie[5], Branson[5], William[5], and Joseph[5] died young.

1. Wilbur Charles[5] McNeill, [Rachael[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], married in 1874, Susan Williams, daughter of Otho and Susan Byrns (Fisher) Williams, and was last with members of his family in 1907. One daughter was born.

Va., May 27, 1876; married March 1, 1893, Scott Cunningham, (born in Pendleton County, W. Va., September 18, 1869 and died August 14, 1918), son of Solomon and Emma (Schultz) Cunningham, who built "Hickory Hill". Solomon was of English descent from one of three brothers, who came to America in an early day.

   Scott Sunningham was connected with Iron and Steel works.

   1. Laurene[7] Cunningham, [Annie V.[6], Wilbur C.[5], Rachael[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], born in 1895; married November 16, 1920, Jesse William Fisher, who operates large Poultry Farm at Fisher, W. Va.
      1. Jesse William[8] Fisher, Jr., born May 1, 1922.
   2. Emma[7] Cunningham, [Annie V.[6], Wilbur C.[5], Rachael[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], born in Franklin, W. Va., in 1899; married April 18, 1918, Julian Baker[7] Chipley, (Elizabeth[6], William[5], Elizabeth Ann[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar), a druggist in Moorefield, where they reside.
      1. Julian Baker[8] Chipley, born February 1, 1919, in Baltimore, Maryland.

2. Sallie Seymour[5] McNeill, [Rachael[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], born after her father's death; married I. R. Simmons, of Keyser, W. Va., and died in 1916, leaving three children.

I. William Charles[6] Simmons, of Alaska, W. Va.
II. Roy[6] Simmons, address: Royal Oak, Mich.
III. Mrs. Carrie[6] Simmons Head, Hagerstown, Md.

6. Mary Catharine[4] Branson, [William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], born in Hardy County, W. Va., May 8, 1824 and died March 20, 1884; married June 10, 1852, Isaac Chrisman, (born in Hardy County, October 6, 1810; died there June 12, 1884), son of Jacob and Leah (Claypoole) Chrisman.

The mother of Jacob Chrisman was a daughter of Joist Hite, one of the earliest settlers in the Valley of Virginia.

"The Chrisman family first settled in what is now Frederick County, Va., at a place called Chrisman Springs, near White Post.

When helping to chase away a band of Indians, which had committed depredations on white settlers and were making toward the Ohio river, Jacob Chrisman, from the top of North Mountain, saw the Indians' camp fire near the top of Branch Mountain; the white men surrounded and surprised the Indians, killed three, and liberated their prisoners.

Crossing the Lost River Valley, Mr. Chrisman was pleased with its situation and evident fertility of the land and a few years later returned and settled on a tract containing 425 acres, the most of which belongs to the family of Isaac C. Chrisman.

Over this same Indian trail, Lionel Branson chopped out the first wagon road and settled on a farm adjoining the Chrisman land, bought of an earlier settler."

As was the case of many early day homesteads, fire destroyed the old Isaac Chrisman house in 1856, utterly obliterating relics of the past and records, including the Chrisman family Bible.

Four children were born:

1. Franklin[5] Branner Chrisman, born May 24, 1854.
2. Branson William[5] Chrisman, born May 24, 1856.
3. Isaac Casper[5] Chrisman, born June 24, 1861.
4. Ann Elizabeth[5] Chrisman, born December 18, 1865.

1. Franklin Branner[5] Chrisman, [Mary C.[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], born May 24, 1854, in the old Chrisman homestead, one mile south of his own home, built in later years. He married October 16, 1895, Nora Bell Hutton, daughter of Moses Welton and Mary Agnes (Bell) Hutton; and a sister of Mrs. James Ward Wood; no children.

   By invitation months before, the writer, her husband and Miss Mattie Cloud Wood spent a happy day in this hospitable home on Lost River, and under the Chrismans' sponsoring courtesy called upon the other kindred in the neighborhood, in homes whose situation of historic interest to themselves was intensely so to one committed to the task of gathering records and data for a large clan usually at long range.

   Mr. Chrisman owned part of the land given to Rebekah[2] Millar and Lionel Branson and there built his home from which, after a life of quiet courageous living terminated by a year of intermittent suffering, he passed away January 10, 1927; once again causing the writer to summon courage to go on, a little more alone in her undertaking, in which he had been so interested and so helpful.

2. Branson William[5] Chrisman, [Mary C.[4], William[3], Rebekah[2], William[1] Millar], born May 24, 1856; died in his home in Moorefield, W. Va., April 27, 1914, and lies buried in Olivet Cemetery, near that place.

   He married in Moorefield, June 22, 1887, Elizabeth Williams Gamble, daughter of Mortimer Williams and Elizabeth (Cunningham) Gamble, who with their daughter survives him.

   I. Pattie Hamilton[6] Chrisman, born November 19, 1901.

preciation of his life and sense of loss in his death. "His generous heart had bound to him hundreds, by thoughtful kindness and help in time of need. Every public charity, every movement to make life easier and people better, found in him a sympathetic approach and generous help. The many who from time to time, profited by his friendly counsel or who enjoyed the charm of close association with him, will have compensation for their sorrow in the knowledge that it was their privilege to know him well.

There are none who knew him except those who will honor his memory."

Mr. Wood was laid to rest on a beautiful autumn day in Olivet Cemetery, where fresh fallen leaves made a carpet of gold to render less drear the way to the "narrow house".

Chapter VI.

Elizabeth Millar—Van Meter

The coming of the Van Meteren to America was not a haphazard drifting and tempermental unrest typical of the people of certain European Countries. but an intelligent interest in the discovery of the Hudson river country, and the reports of it, as published in London years before.

"In 1533 *Emanuel Van Meteren was born in Antwerp, of Protestant parents who took him to London in 1550, where he associated himself with his cousin Abraham Ortelius, the celebrated geographer, and where from 1583 to his death in 1612, he was Dutch Consul at the Court of St. James.

He published in 1599 the first edition of his Dutch History, which took rank as an authority.

In the thirty-first book of the 1611 edition that Van Meteren published, was the story of Hudson's third voyage to America, soon after the latter's return to London early in 1610."

"Narratives of New Netherland"—pp. 4 & 5.

The Van Meters who settled in America derive their name from Van, "of" and Meteren, a town in the Province of Guelderland, Holland.

In legal documents the sons of a Holland Dutch family wrote their whole names, but for ordinary purposes it was deemed unnecessary; hence in the list of passengers of the "Fox", arriving at New Amsterdam in 1662, was Jan Joosten (Van Meteren) from Tiederwelt, Holland, with his wife, (named Macyken Hendricksen and 5 children aged 15, 12, 9, 6 and 2½ years; the childrens names, in probable order of birth, were Lisbeth, Catharine, Geertje, Joost Janse and Gysbert Jans; the two sons born about 1656 and 1660.

"He removed to Wyltwick, now Kingston, N. Y., in the summer of 1662". (Documentary History of New York).

*Emanuel, was the son of Jacob Van Meteren of Breda who printed at Antwerp the Coverdale Bible, the first in English and one of the rarest of printed books, a copy of which was sold in 1903 by the Appleton's in New York for $3,000."

Birthplace of Joost Jan Van Meteren.
Province of Guelderland, Holland.

On March 30, 1671, he secured from Governor Lovelace, a deed for a lot in Marbletown, (N. Y. Land Papers I. p. 37), and a confirmation October 11, 1671 of a 30 acre lot of ground. (ibid p. 42).

Settled at Kingston, nothing more is heard of them until the Minnisnik Indians came down upon the settlements on the Hudson river, burned the villages of Hurley and Kingston, carried away captive some of the women and children, among them being two children of Jan Joosten.

The accounts of the pursuit of the Indians do not give the names of the children, but one of them would seem likely to have been Joost Jans because in his later years he was much associated with them and showed much knowledge of their habits of life.

In a list of inhabitants of Ulster County, who in October of 1664 subscribed to the Oath of Allegiance, appears the name of Jan Joosten.

After this he comes more and more into prominence in both civil and religious matters—was appointed referee in a law suit, later to a minor judiciary position (Schepen) and was much in demand as witness or sponsor at baptisms.

"Celebrated at Jan Joostens in the presence of the whole consistory"; this likely due to his sizeable house and the fact he had been elected Deacon in the Reformed Dutch Church at Kingston in 1667; he was still Schepen in 1668.

On October 6, 1673, he was selected as one of the four Magistrates of Hurley and Marbletown, where he possessed property in 1671.

Another of the four Magistrates was Louis du Bois. On the overthrow of the Dutch government, its possessions coming under English rule, the inhabitants of New Netherland were required to swear allegiance to the new Sovereign and here again we find Jan Joosten's name among those who performed this act of fealty in Ulster County on the first of September 1689.

Now comes an important part of his career, which relates to the land grants he obtained in the Province of East New Jersey, a period extending from 1689 to 1706.

"By deed from Governor Hamilton, given on 13th of September 1700, several parcels of land were conveyed to Jane (Jan) Joosten, of Marbletown, Ulster County, N. Y. Yeoman."

"Jan Joosten Van Meteren" is also on record as being in Piscataway, (now South Amboy) on September 13, 1700. (N. J. Archives, 1st Series, Vol. XXI. pp. 318, 497, 517).

His actual residence at this time is not known but in N. J. Calendar of Wills p. 480 is found a filing of the inventory of the personal estate of Jan Joosten of —— dated 13 June 1706 and marked Dutch. Sworn to by "John Van Mator" in Burlington, N. J.

The appraisers were neighbors on the South Branch of the Raritan; some among them, also emmigrants from Kingston, were Thomas and George Haal, Cornelius du Bois, Adrien Molenaur and Hendrick Traphagen. Hist. Somerset County, N. J., p. 561 etc.)

"In the Will of Jan Joosten Van Meteren dated 16 Dec., 1681, it developes that Joost Janse was the elder son and according to the provision therein, received the heir-at-law's double portion."

(Taken largely from Van Meter-Duke-Shepherd Genealogy, by S. Gordon Smyth.)

By the usual Dutch custom the father's name was transposed for the oldest son, thus the older son of Jan Joosten Van Meteren, was Joost Janse (or Jansen) Van Meteren, who married December 12, 1682 in Marbletown, N. Y., Sarah, daughter of Louis du Bois, the New Paltz Patentee.

Henry, a son of these parents moved to Salem County, N. J. and married in the 1st Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia March 7, 1741, Rebecca du Bois, (born Aug. 14, 1722) where her sister Catharine had married in 1737 Joseph Hopewell; and in 1743, married second, William Millar, these last, the founders of the Millar-du Bois Genealogy; both these du Bois sisters were the great grand daughters of Louis the Patentee.

The Van Meters are legion and have married into every generation of these records, worthy, generally prosperous, many of them great. Always moving onward into new countries, new worlds to conquer, leaving impress of their energy and sturdy character.

Solomon, a son of Henry and Rebecca (du Bois) Van Meter (born May 12, 17—; died May 17, 1830) was among the early settlers in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and there married March 20, 1781, his cousin Elizabeth, the youngest child of William and Catharine (du Bois) Millar.

They and their families formed part of the old Opekon congregation, near Winchester, the first Presbyterian Church in America west of the Blue Ridge.

"Joist Hite, whose colony made the congregation possible, obtained his grant of the Van Meters in 1732."

Elizabeth[2] Millar was born on the Millar plantation November 19, 1755 and died in the same county, January 24, 1809.

No picture of her is known to exist but there are cherished by her descendants in Front Royal, Va., several of her personal belongings, one a finely woven, exquisitely made linen apron, which by its length indicates a tall wearer and the neatly embroidered initials upon the waistband speak of one "who looketh well to the ways of her household."

Children:

1. REBECCA[3] VAN METER, born June 7, 1782: died January 11, 1828.
2. WILLIAM[3] VAN METER, born April 1, 1784: died June 23, 1831.

I. LUCY CATHARINE[6] COOK, born May 10, 1877.

II. FRANCIS OWNER[6] COOK, born August 1, 1878.

III. JAMES VICK[6] COOK, born September 27, 1882; married March 10, 1908, Dora Neely, at Benton, Ark., while a rail road Auditor there.

10. HUGH[5] HENRY, [William Van M.[4] Rebecca[3], Elizabeth[2],

William[1] Millar], born May 11, 1847, in Front Royal, Va. A minister of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Henry's early training was obtained in the Front Royal Academy, under the instruction of Capt. R. H. Simpson, and his sister Miss Mary Simpson—after the interruption caused by the War between the States he pursued studies at Pleasant Grove Academy in Rockingham County, Va., under Gen. *J. E. Roller; then entered Roanoke College at Salem, Va., in 1867, graduating with third honors in 1871.

Beginning upon his chosen Theological work, he entered that same fall Union Theological Seminary, now of Richmond, then of Prince Edward County, Va.

Completing the course, Mr. Henry was licensed by the Montgomery Presbytery sitting in Lynchburg in the Spring of 1874.

For a few months he labored for the Gospel Ministry in tidewater Virginia, then accepted a call to Lebanon Church in Albermarle County, where he was ordained to full work in 1875.

Fourteen years were spent practically in the same field in Albermarle, Tabor and Olivet being organized during his ministry.

He next spent four years in Campbell County, serving a group of churches, Hat Creek, Diamond Hill and Rustburg.

At the end of this period he was called to Briery Church in Prince Edward County, entering upon its pastorate in 1893.

This is one of the oldest churches in all that section of Virginia, having been organized in 1755, whose first pastor was Rev. Robert Henry, a native Scotchman of Argylshire, sent by the Presbytery of New York to labor in Virginia 1752. Not known to have been related.

This brief sketch was written from notes furnished in 1910 and when in late February of 1912 word came to the writer, of Mr. Henry's death upon the 15th, it seemed for a while to her, difficult indeed to proceed with this genealogy—so much of inspiring interest had he always shown since answering her first letter requesting his family data, he replied with such friendly offers of help and pleasure in having a new cousin, that always thereafter he seemed indeed one of her own near kindred.

More than once in answer to an apology for bothering a busy clergyman, he would reply "do not hesitate to write me, the very outside of your letters is good reading."

Mr. Henry married in New Kent County, Va., December 22, 1874, Mildred Carter Selden, (born near Richmond, March 15, 1847), daughter of E. B. and Sarah (Garlick) Seldon and a descendant of Carter Braxton, the Signer.

The following is copy of a letter written to the author's great grandmother, wife of John William[3] Millar, only a year settled in their Ohio home, both of whom were born and reared in Front Royal, Va.

Front Royal, May 28, 1804

Dear Polly

I received your letter by Mr. Raynolds which gave me great satisfaction to hear you are well and had not forgotten me. O, Polly it is impossible to tell how often I think of you and the many days we have spent together and now to be so far distant from each other. Mr. Raynolds informed us that you intend coming in next fall with the boys, do not disappoint us Polly for we are all anxious to see you and the little stranger you will bring along.

I was to see Nelly a few days ago. She was very well and could not come home with me for Mr. Abbott was expected there; tell Joshua I think his case is extremely bad if he catches no ducks without her assistance for Mr. Abbott will bear her off. Certainly he must fall upon some other plan to get his living beside ducking or he will look worse than he did when he left this country.

Miss Hanie talks of going to Bath this summer but I rather suspect it will be like your going to Bethlehem!! Mr. Newman is paying every possible attention to her and is expected they will be married.

Miss Hickman has just returned from Woodstock where she has been sometime. Miss Gun came with her and is now in town. Mrs. Brown has left Alexandria and is living with her brother. She has quit the Methodists and is as lively as ever.

Mr. John Cunningham was married last week to the accomplished Miss Lauck. My father is gone to the Branch expect some of the Methodist girls will come down with him to the quarterly meeting which is next Saturday and Sunday.

Tell Cornelius I see Marian last evening she is well and as blooming as a rose and could keep him in chat had he been there for she was in fine humour for it. No more but my love to Cousin Johnny and remain

Your affectionate Cousin

Catharine Van Meter.

CATHARINE[3] VAN METER, married December 29, 1812, William Lane, (born April 14, 1786), son of Thomas Lane.

Nine children were born to them.

1. ELIZABETH[4] LANE, born in Front Royal, January 27, 1815: died in Front Royal, January 22, 1905.
2. REBECCA[4] LANE, born August 5, 1816.
3. THOMAS[4] LANE, born November 27, 1817.
4. SOLOMON[4] LANE, born October 26, 1819: died young.
5. WILLIAM[4] LANE, born October 15, 1821.
6. GEORGE W. S.[4] LANE, born May 30, 1824.
7. HENRY[4] LANE, born January 15, 1826.
8. MARTHA C.[4] LANE, born September 13, 1827.
9. MARY HANEY[4] LANE, born September 10, 1829.

1. ELIZABETH[4] LANE [Catharine[3], Elizabeth[2], William[1] Millar], born in Front Royal, Va., January 27, 1815: died there January 22, 1905; married November 15, 1839 Giles Cook (born June 22, 1812: died September 1891), a lawyer of prominence in Front Royal, the son of Giles and Elizabeth (Baker) Cook.

—Eulogy taken from her home town paper—

"Mrs. Cook was in every respect a noble specimen of genuine womanhood. Endowed with unusual charms of person, she was in early years a popular leader in the social life of her community.

After assuming the responsibilities of married life she became a model mother and housewife, a recognized authority on all domestic matters. She was gifted with a wonderful memory for dates and events, never forgetting the marriages, births and deaths among the people of the neighborhood and retained full possession of her faculties to the last.

Of her it may truly be said, "Her children rise up and call her blessed". To these her survivors, she leaves a precious legacy in the memory of her gracious life.

A "Mother in Israel" has passed from our midst, one who as a christian wife, mother and neighbor was an exemplar of the truest virtues.

Within a week she would have celebrated her ninetieth birthday and the community in which she lived so long deplore her loss as that of its last representative of the good old days.

Having been the first president of the Warren Co. Memorial Association, that organization in recognition of her office, laid upon her grave a beautiful floral offering bearing this inscription:

"For one who first our counsels led,
In caring for the honored dead,
These flowers a fitting type will be of her own fragrant memory."

INDEX

The weight of literary authority is against regarding prefixes d', de, du La, Le, and Van as integral parts of proper names.

Personal usage, however, has often placed such as initial syllables, hence names so beginning will here be found under D, L and V.

The Huguenot Society of New Jersey

1. Dup

November 18, 1978

Dear Miss Rex:

Thank you very much for writing to me concerning the See family. Mrs. Heidgerd and I have for many years been good friends and she is very interested in helping others. I have written to her concerning your family.

I must inform you that you do not descend from Isaac See, the Huguenot, but rather from George Zeh, a German from the Palatinate whose descendants took the name See. There has been much confusion in the early records concerning the various See families in this country. Isaac See's name, in its French form, Sy; a Johann Süss from Switzerland took the name See and settled in Philadelphia, PA; a John Bernard See is on record also in Philadelphia (he was of German origin); and a Richard Seay, who was a Huguenot, and no relation to Isaac Sy, also took the name See.

I send you the above only to point out the very confusing issues concerning the name See.

When I started to write my Isaac Sy genealogy several years ago, I too believed that all See's in this country descended from him. It has taken me over ten years to unravel the German families from the French ones. George Zeh's descendants are on record as having gone to Virginia (now West Virginia). Isaac See's descendants never left New York State, in any great degree, until the 1900's and, to the best of my knowledge, never went to Virginia.

Your line is as follows: George Zeh (See), born about 1687, in the Palatinate, Germany, died 1751, Hardy County, VA (now WV), married about 1712, Margaret, maiden name unknown, died, 1757, Hardy County, Va.

George Zeh was in the second migration of Palatines from England to the West Camp (~~Newburgh~~ Saugerties, NY) in 1710 removing later to Pennsylvania and finally to Virginia(WV)

(See MacWethy's Book of Names, p. 39; Rupp's Thirty Thousand, pp. 448, 465, 468.)

2 Dup.

Their son was Michael See, b. 21 Mar 1727, Berks Co., Pa., d. 3 Jul 1795, Lost City, Va. (WV); m. 1750 Barbara Rebecca Harness, b. 7 June 1732, Berks Co., Pa., d. 14 Feb 1820, Mill Creek, Randolph Co., Va. (WV). Barbara Harness was the daughter of Michael Harness and Elizabeth Wezall (also given as Weszall, Westfall and Jasper).

Their daughter was Elizabeth See (your ancestor) b. 14 August, 1756.

Please note the information you sent me from the Millar - DuBois Family by Nourse is incorrect. That is why the dates are wrong and, as you point out, he has Elizabeth's father born eight years after she was born. You do not descend from Adam and Catherine Harness See as he states but rather from Michael and Barbara Harness See.

I sincerely hope you will not be disappointed in the above findings as you do descend from the DuBois family and many people are looking for their Huguenot ancestor which you have already found. The Germans who escaped persecution came here for the same reasons as the Huguenots did but at a later date. However, they cannot be classified as Huguenots which means French Reformed.

The above material is documented in my files and some of it was put together by a genealogist named Joseph B. See of Iowa. Other references are MacWethy's Book of Names, p. 39 and Rupp's Thirty Thousand, pp. 448, 465, 468 and records of New York State.

If you have any questions concerning your family, please do not hesitate to write to me and I hope this material will be of help to you.

Sincerely,

Glenna See Hill

P.S. I just noticed that the references were reversed
